SECRETARY'S MESSAGE

Administering and operating a State correctional system is unlike administering and operating any other state agency. While it is true other agencies assume responsibility for institutionalized people, generally those institutionalized clients represent a more or less discrete clientele, who are usually disadvantaged by virtue of mental incapacitation. The offenders committed to the Department of Corrections are not a discrete group. The only similarities are they have all committed crimes, been arrested, tried, found guilty and sentenced to the Department. These offenders have been found guilty of a wide variety of crimes committed for many different reasons. Incarcerated offenders are involuntary, require supervision 24-hours a day, feeding, clothing, housing, health services, academic and vocational training and counseling, numerous other services and, above all, security. Security is absolutely necessary to insure the safety of staff and inmates, as well as the safety of the public. Offenders committed to this Department represent a small percentage of those individuals arrested for criminal acts. The Department has no choice in those it receives. Under these circumstances, institutional staff are required to be alert every minute of the day. Given all the characteristics and factors involved in a correctional system, performance of responsibilities must be carried out in a professional manner, based upon professional standards.

Correctional staff, particularly those responsible for prison operations, receive advice from a variety of sources offering solutions for what they perceive as major problems. Frequently, these recommendations, however well intended, are based upon misinformation or a failure to understand the realities of prison operations. Many times the actions we are urged to undertake, particularly on an experimental basis, may compound the original problems. Any change proposed for a prison system must occur as a result of a conscientious, thorough and positive decision-making process.

Throughout this fiscal year, the Department has diligently pursued the effort involving accreditation by the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections for our major institutions. To remind all staff of the need of a positive and progressive approach, the Department adopted the slogan, "Accreditation - A Bold Approach." This slogan has provided a daily reminder to all staff of the Department to avoid becoming complacent and to attain an even higher level of professionalism through compliance with professionally prescribed standards. To date, the Department attained accreditation for 24 of its 25 major institutions. The twenty-fifth institution is in compliance with the Standards and we anticipate this institution will be accredited at the next commission meeting.

The Department has expanded its "Bold Approach" to accreditation in two other areas. First, we have formally enrolled Probation and Parole Services in the accreditation process and have proceeded with the required self-evaluation. Second, we have proceeded with the process of seeking accreditation for our Community Correctional Centers. Probation and Parole Services has successfully completed an audit by the Commission on Accreditation and full accreditation is expected to be awarded in early 1982. Accreditation standards are being developed by the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections involving other components of the correctional system, including Industries and Central Administration. We will seek accreditation in those areas at the earliest possible time.

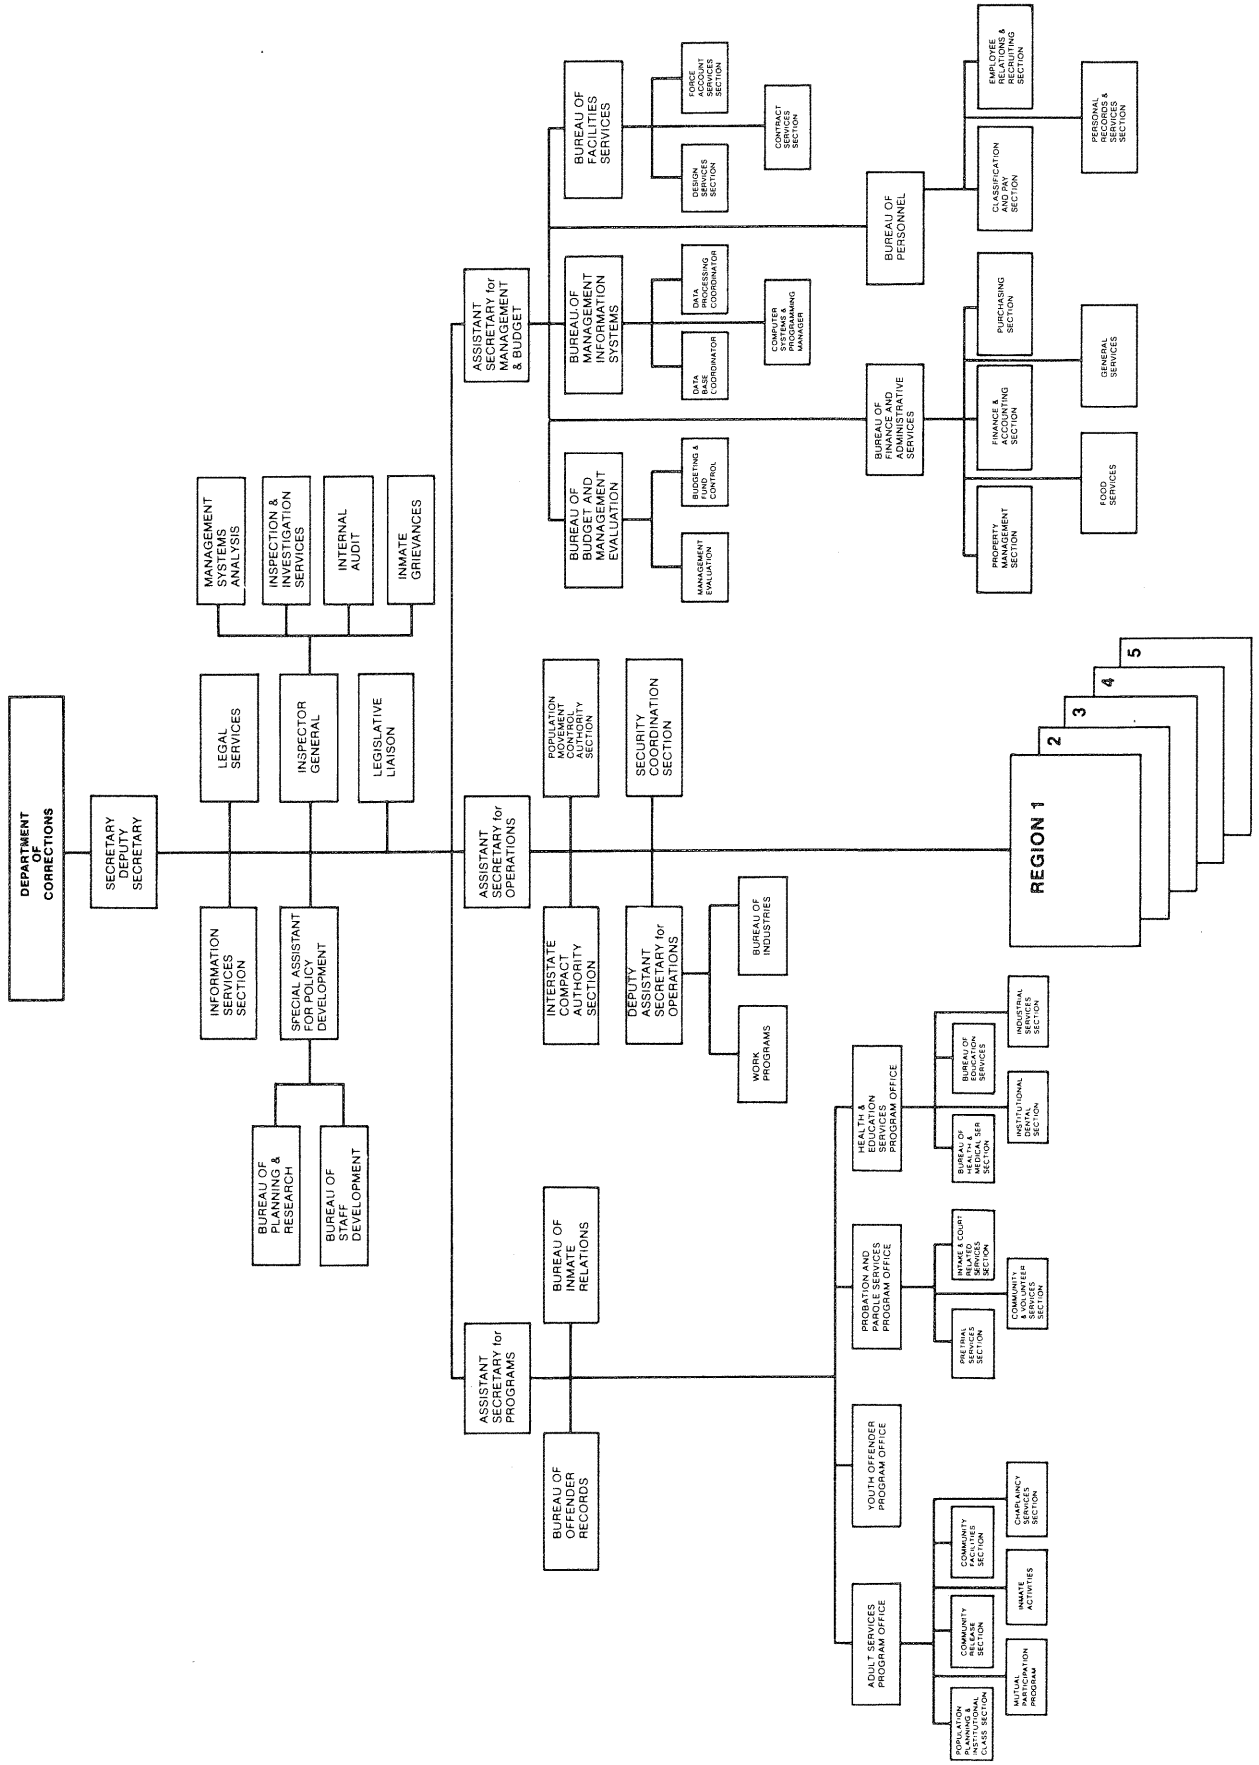

This past fiscal year has been a keystone year for the Florida Department of Corrections in many areas. The accreditation of our major institutions was by far the foremost accomplishment. Another significant area of achievement includes funds provided by the Governor and Legislature to assist in professionalizing correctional officers through increased salaries, more professional uniforms and shoe and uniform maintenance allowances. Other areas of achievement include implementation of the Workhour Formula Pilot Program in Region III; completion of the reorganization of Probation and Parole; conclusion of a pilot project and implementation of the Uniform Custody Classification System statewide; expansion of the Inspector General's Office in the Department; expansion of the Correctional Industries Program; increased training and staff development; continuation of successful efforts to recruit women and minorities and the development of a Departmental Mental Health Plan. The efforts required for these achievements were in addition to normal operating efforts, and in many instances, were above and beyond the call of duty of the staff of this Department.

I am extremely pleased with our efforts and achievements during this past fiscal year. Despite a net increase of 1,847 inmates in the total institutional population and an increase of 2,301 offenders under probation and parole supervision, Department staff achieved a high level of accomplishment. This additional workload did not deter staff in making these accomplishments possible. I wish to commend each and every employee of the Department for their efforts and achievements. By virtue of this dedication to duty, the Department can move confidently ahead toward the accomplishment of projected goals. I am certain that with an increased emphasis on professionalism and participatory management, the Department will continue to meet the challenge of correctional responsibility.

Secretary Wainwright introduces Governor Bob Graham who presented accreditation certificates to the first major institutions accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections. Winston Tanksley, Accreditation Manager, assisted in the presentation. Among those present for this significant occasion were Attorney General Jim Smith and Alan Breed, Director of The National Institute of Corrections.

ACCREDITATION

ACCREDITATION: A BOLD APPROACH

In the first half of this century, most recognized disciplines and professions established standards to be utilized by respective constituents to objectively evaluate their performance. Medicine, education, law, engineering and religion are notable examples.

Corrections, an emerging discipline, followed suit in 1968 when the American Correctional Association initiated its Project on Self-evaluation and Accreditation. During the Centennial Congress of Corrections in 1970, the voting body of the American Correctional Association adopted the product of this effort entitled, "An Accreditation Plan for Corrections."

Florida is credited with field testing both the initial standards and the proposed system of self-evaluation during the developmental period. In the beginning, accreditation was limited to institutions, primarily prisons.

Since 1977 it has been possible for institutions and other correctional services including Probation and Parole Services to pursue accreditation.

The Commission on Accreditation for Corrections, in cooperation with the American Correctional Association, sets the standards to be met during the accreditation process. Those standards, addressing all areas of adult and juvenile corrections, are the primary comprehensive national standards for this field.

Accreditation offers a mechanism to upgrade corrections systematically. In addition, it provides a method for independently verifying good correctional practices through audits, inspections, documentation and periodic reports required by the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections. Participating correctional agencies are granted accreditation status only after documented proof that sound management and operational procedures are being observed in accordance with the Commission's accreditation policy and procedures.

Florida has been a pioneer in the development and implementation of the accreditation concept in corrections. With 25 major adult institutions, 82 Probation and Parole offices and 31 Community Facilities now involved in the formal process, the Florida Department of Corrections leads the field of corrections in the accreditation effort. This effort, it must be emphasized, can be attributed to the sincere commitment of Departmental staff.

There are currently more than 600 correctional agencies involved in the accreditation process in the United States and Canada and only 157 facilities have been awarded accreditation status by the Commission.

STATUS OF ACCREDITATION

MAJOR INSTITUTIONS

Florida was the first state to enter all of its adult correctional institutions into the accreditation process. Of the 25 major institutions engaged in the accreditation process, 24 have received accreditation status and the one remaining institution has received favorable audit reports and awaits notification of accreditation.

Florida has more accredited adult correctional institutions than any other state or jurisdiction. The following statistics were provided by the Commission and reflects the number of accredited adult correctional institutions on June 1, 1981.

*As of August 14, 1981, Florida had 24 major institutions accredited with one remaining to complete its process. Florida's 26th major institution, Tomoka Correctional Institution, opened in July and has not been enrolled in the accreditation process.

Verification audits to date have brought 35 experts from 20 states to visit and evaluate 24 of Florida's major adult correctional institutions. Beyond the audit phase of the accreditation process, the Commission has convened panels of correctional experts (not including members of any audit team) to finally determine whether Accreditation Status is merited. STANDARDS FOR ACCREDITATION OF ADULT INSTITUTIONS

The Commission on Accreditation for Corrections established 465 standards to measure the performance of institutions. The standards are divided into three categories: Essential; Important; and Desirable. The minimum levels of compliance required in each institution are: 90 percent of Essential, 80 percent of Important and 70 percent of Desirable standards. Within these three categories, standards are divided into 29 subject areas. In order to illustrate the scope of the accreditation process, the subject areas are briefly summarized below. STATUS OF OTHER ACCREDITATION EFFORTS

PROBATION AND PAROLE SERVICE OFFICES

On March 29, 1981, the Department of Corrections signed a contract with the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections to enroll Probation and Parole Services in the accreditation process. Five regional self-evaluation reports, addressing the 208 standards specified by the Commission, were submitted on August 31, 1981, and audits are scheduled to commence on October 26, 1981. It is the expectation of the Department that the entire Probation and Parole Services will be accredited early in 1982.

COMMUNITY CORRECTIONAL CENTERS AND WOMEN'S ADJUSTMENT CENTERS

In addition to seeking accreditation for all the major institutions in the State of Florida, the Department of Corrections on August 1, 1981, began the accreditation process in 23 Community Correctional Centers and 8 Women's Adjustment Centers. Community facilities are required to apply 191 standards in the accreditation process. Each of these community facilities will undergo individual accreditation and be awarded individual certificates. Self-evaluation reports are to be submitted in December of 1981, and Commission on Accreditation for Corrections will begin auditing each facility early in 1982. The Department anticipates having the 31 facilities accredited by the end of 1982.

PROBATION & PAROLE SERVICES

PROBATION AND PAROLE SERVICES

The Department of Corrections' Probation and Parole Services is committed to providing the most viable community-based diversion alternatives which are consistent with the public interest and safety. The primary objective is the protection of society through surveillance and effective supervision of probationers and parolees.

In addition to supervising over 50,000 probationers and parolees, another major function includes the preparation of quality and timely pre-sentence investigations for the court, pre-parole investigations for the Parole Commission, and a variety of other investigative reports which are used in the Criminal Justice System.

PROBATION AND PAROLE CIRCUIT ADMINISTRATIVE STRUCTURE

In an effort to improve the effectiveness and efficiency in Probation and Parole Field Services, field staff were restructured by the Department of Corrections to fall under judicial circuit boundaries, thereby creating twenty Probation and Parole Circuit Offices. This reorganization streamlined management by eliminating one peer of supervision, establishing Senior Probation and Parole Officer positions as specialists to concentrate on the supervision of youthful offenders, and providing a career ladder for professional staff. The new structure is designed to improve accountability, service delivery, staff morale and responsiveness to the needs of the community and the offender.

The philosophy and responsibilities of Probation and Parole Services are set forth in Florida Statute 20.315 (d) as follows:

"To provide meaningful supervision for offenders on parole and probation and to develop community alternatives to traditional incarceration which could be safely used."

Florida Statute 20.315 (f) states that the Department is to "provide judges with effective evaluation tools and information to use in the sentencing decision." Other Florida Statutes including 921.231, 948.01, 948.02, 948.06, 945.30 and 944.012 address the requirements for Pre-Sentence Investigations, collection of costs of supervision, restitution to the victim, child support and other obligations.

Probation and Parole Services provide statewide uniform services for felony offenders, covering all 67 counties through a total of 82 office locations. The services are an integral part of the Criminal Justice System and provide linkages with the community resources of the general public.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES AND PARTICIPATORY MANAGEMENT

Goals and Objectives have been established in order to provide a statewide coordinated means of measuring accomplishments. The participatory management system ensures full input from all levels of staff and administrators. All policies and procedures developed in the Probation and Parole Program Office are sent to the field staff for review and input prior to recommendations being made for issuance by the Secretary. In addition, regular meetings are conducted with the Regional Administrators and other staff to insure input for revisions and to prioritize Departmental goals as required. One of the major objectives is the implementation and continuation of the Workhour Pilot Project.

WORKHOUR PILOT PROJECT

The Workhour Pilot Project, which is a staffing formula for Probation and Parole Field Services, was funded by the 1980 Legislature to demonstrate whether or not smaller and more manageable caseloads for Probation and Parole Offices provide better protection to the community and to improve the confidence of the courts in the use of probation as a relatively safe alternative to imprisonment for selected offenders and at the same time be cost effective. The pilot project was implemented in the Central Florida area of the State, comprising Region III. Under the formula, units and hours have been established for each task of the Probation and Parole Officer, such as 12 hours for Pre-sentence Investigation and 4 hours for the time necessary to supervise a maximum supervision case during any given month. The number of staff required are predicated on the number of hours necessary to complete the tasks. The project, at the outset, identified 15 measureable objectives which would be utilized to determine the success of the program. Region II (Northeast Florida) was selected as a control group since it closely approximates the size workload of the experimental region. Comparisons are also being made with the balance of the State. Some objectives are:

...To improve protection to the community by increasing community contacts and verification of employment and residential changes

- ...To increase the confidence of the courts in the use of probation as a safe alternative
- ...To provide the Department with capabilities to conduct meaningful supervision and quality investigations as mandated by statutes
- ...To improve the timeliness and completion of investigations for the courts and the Parole Commission
- ...To provide better case management and constructive use of early termination in order to prevent mushrooming caseloads
- ...To show overall improvement in Probation and Parole Services delivery systems

The first year's experience in the pilot project resulted in the number of contacts by the Parole and Probation Offices in the field increasing by over 100% with the accompanying increase in the protection and safety to the community. Case management improvements resulted in the significant increase in the number of early terminations compared to the control group and with the balance of the state. The employment rate of the offenders in the experimental region is higher, cost of supervision payments have improved and victim restitution payments have increased. The improvement in the system has been highly endorsed by the fifteen circuit judges participating in the project. This was determined by a formal survey which reflected increased confidence in the quality of the Pre-sentence Investigations and supervision. Based on the evidenced increase in the protection of the community, greater use of probation by the courts as a reasonably safe diversionary alternative, and other improvements in the effectiveness of community supervision, it was recommended that the Workhour Formula be fully implemented in the remaining four Regions in the State.

AMERICAN CORRECTIONAL ASSOCIATION ACCREDITATION

Another top priority objective was seeking national accreditation from the American Correctional Association's Commission on Accreditation for Adult Probation and Parole Services. This extensive effort involved the application of 208 standards to Probation and Parole Services in Florida. All policies and procedures were reviewed and modified as needed and require all staff to be thoroughly trained in the policies and procedures of the Department and their application to the standards. Self-evaluation reports were prepared by each Region, which addressed each of the standards and submitted to the Commission on Accreditation for review. The auditing team from the Commission on Accreditation did an in-depth review of staff and the use of the participatory management approach in Probation and Parole Services. This unified Central Office, and randomly visiting 26 Probation and Parole Offices. They interviewed Probation and Parole Officers, Supervisors, Circuit Administrators, Regional Administrators, clerical staff and others. A number of probationers and parolees were also interviewed by the auditing team.

The auditing team's findings included comments that Florida had one of the top Probation and Parole Field Systems in the nation. They further indicated that Florida was being recommended to the Commission on Accreditation based on the fine system. The team was particularly impressed with the high caliber of training of staff in the use of the participatory management approach in Probation and Parole Services. This unified team effort in gaining national recognition exemplifies the cohesiveness and effectiveness of Florida's system in carrying out responsibilities of supervision and investigation.

QUALITY ASSURANCE MONITORING

The Quality Assurance Monitoring Program has been implemented with Administrators from the Probation and Parole Program Office, providing regular monitoring visits to the field office to help ensure that policies and procedures are being followed. This is designed to improve the quality of service delivery and addresses all levels of staff. Written reports are provided for review as a follow-up to the exit interviews.

YOUTHFUL OFFENDER PROGRAMS

Senior Probation and Parole Officers, who have been promoted because of experience and qualifications, are responsible for supervising youthful offenders. Special programs have been designed to encourage youthful offenders to participate in self-improvement programs through the use of early termination recommendations, volunteer sponsors and other incentives developed to place emphasis on youthful offenders. The Workhour Formula provides smaller caseloads and this allows additional enhancements.

CASE MANAGEMENT AND EARLY TERMINATIONS

Through more effective case management, and the use of the Probation and Parole Services Management Information Systems, selective cases are being moved systematically through the maximum, medium and minimum supervision classifications. This has shifted the statewide caseload skew from the maximum classification to a skew towards the minimum classification and resulted in sizeable increases in release by early terminations by the court, for those offenders who do not appear to need supervision. The program is designed to help control caseloads and cost effectiveness.

VICTIM RESTITUTION

Probationers and parolees in Florida are required to make restitution payments to the victims of crime. Most of this is in the form of monetary payments as designated by the courts. Probation and Parole Officers are responsible for ensuring that the payments are regularly made to the victims. During the fiscal year, restitution payments by probationers and parolees to victims totaled $3,085,079.00.

COST OF SUPERVISION

Under Florida Statute 945.30, probationers and parolees are required to pay at least $10.00 per month toward the cost of their supervision in the community, unless waived because of inability to pay. This program requires extra effort by the Probation and Parole Officers, and as a result of this effort, the officers collected $4,227,655.00 last year which was placed in the State treasury to help offset costs.

PRE-TRIAL INTERVENTION

Pre-trial intervention has been expanded to 18 of the 20 judicial circuits. This program diverts from prosecution offenders charged with third degree felony crimes, with no prior records other than one misdemeanor conviction. The approval of the victim, judge, Department of Corrections and State Attorney are required. The offender must sign a contract with the State Attorney agreeing to intensive community supervision. During the year, 4,861 contracts were signed. After meeting all terms of the contract, including restitution if required, the charges are dropped. If the conditions are not met by the offender, prosecution is then undertaken. During the fiscal year, $464,779.00 in victim restitution was paid through this program.

OFFENDER JOB BANK PILOT PROJECT

The Offender Job Bank Project, funded by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), was started as an experimental project. The project was designed to aid offenders in their employment searches by identifying employers willing to hire offenders, identifying job openings and in making job placements for offenders under supervision of the Department. Offender Job Bank Programs operate in five sites: Tallahassee, Pensacola, Orlando, Tampa and Ft. Lauderdale. This CETA funded project placed 1,045 offenders of the 1,837 who sought the job bank services. A major portion of the program was funded by the 1981 Legislature to continue this effort. Plans include placing the Employment Specialist positions in the offices of State Employment Services in a cooperative effort to further enhance job placement for offenders.

ECONOMICS OF PROBATION AND PAROLE

Probation and Parole Supervision in the community not only provides protection to the community, but is much less costly than incarceration. The cost per day for supervision is $1.24 compared to the cost of imprisonment of $21.75. This does not include costs of construction which are about $50,000 per institution bed. Other economic benefits include payments by offenders for family support, taxes, victim restitution, supervision fees, and their own upkeep.

...$4,227,655 in costs of supervision fees collected by probation and parole officers and sent to the State treasury

...$3,085,079 in restitution paid back to victims of crime by probationers and parolees

...$464,779 in restitution paid back to victims of crime through the Pre-trial Intervention Program

...$302,465,676 in wages earned by probationers and parolees and recycled back into the State's economy

COMMUNITY FACILITIES

COMMUNITY FACILITIES

The Department of Corrections has the philosophy that one of the functions is the rehabilitation of its offenders and their successful reintegration into the free community. In addition to Probation and Parole Supervision, the Department maintains 53 residential centers where offenders begin the transition from incarceration to release. There are 24 Community Correctional Centers, 8 Women's Adjustment Centers, 8 Probation and Restitution Centers, 9 Road Prisons, and 4 Vocational Centers included in the 53 residential facilities. While all of these are considered community residential facilities, the scope and purpose of each type of facility is vastly different by design, operation and the type of programs available.

In keeping with the Department's commitment to accreditation, the Community Correctional Centers and Women's Adjustment Centers are preparing to submit self-evaluation reports to the Commission on Accreditation in Corrections. Accreditation will be sought for Probation and Restitution Centers, Road Prisons, and Vocational Centers as soon as the Commission on Accreditation in Corrections is prepared to offer such accreditation.

COMMUNITY CORRECTIONAL CENTERS AND WOMEN'S ADJUSTMENT CENTERS

Community Correctional Centers and Women's Adjustment Centers are founded on two basic principals. First, that the real opportunity for successful integration of offenders in society are through Work Release or Study Release Programs. Second, that the trauma of an individual's re-entry into society can be lessened if the process is gradual and accompanied by professional counseling. The goals of the Department of Corrections, relative to community release, are to assist the offender to accept the responsibility of his/her actions and to facilitate the resident offender's re-entry into society.

Since the inception of this program, over 40,000 inmates have been involved in the program on both Work and Study Release. During FY 1980-81 offenders have earned $9,744,824.30 and paid over $1.5 million dollars in Social Security, Income Tax and other payroll deductions. They have paid over $3,050,000 toward their subsistence, transportation, restitution, fines and court costs and an additional $2.9 million dollars for the support of their dependents and personal expenses. The balance, more than $1,800,000 has been placed in savings. Since 1968, offenders have earned more than $66 million dollars, paid $10 million dollars in Social Security, Income Tax and other deductions, paid over $21 million dollars toward subsistence, transportation, restitution, fines and court costs, contributed more than $23 million dollars toward the support of their dependents and their personal expenses. They have also saved over $11 million dollars. These figures express an impressive effort on the part of the offenders in their transition to the free society.

At the present time, Community Correctional Centers and Women's Adjustment Centers have approximately 11% of the state's adult prison population. In addition to Work and Study Release, inmates are also involved with the community through available community resources such as technical schools, colleges and adult education programs, churches, civic clubs and other community programs designed to integrate the offender into the community itself.

The Community Correctional Center system has significantly helped change the attitudes of many inmates toward society. It has helped make real the fact that we are all responsible for the total functions of the human community and we are a part of the community. The Department feels that this approach has a far better chance of returning the individual offender to the community as a productive, involved and responsible citizen than if the offender was released outright from major institutions.

The Lakeland Probation and Restitution Center

PROBATION AND RESTITUTION CENTERS

Probation and Restitution Centers are designed primarily to offer an alternative to the courts in dealing with individuals who do not necessarily require incarceration, but do need more supervision and a more structured program than found in normal probation supervision. The main thrust of this alternative is a highly structured treatment program designed to motivate the offender into acceptance of individual responsibility and socially condoned behavior. Program eligibility is normally limited to selected felons, convicted of property crimes where no threat of violence was used. In addition, the offender, who is usually between the ages of 17 and 24, must not have had a recent history of assaultive behavior. Participation in the program normally takes up to 4 months with highly controlled requirements regarding regular employment, payment of room and board, monthly cost of supervision, restitution plan to the victim, and other financial obligations. Structured treatment programs utilize a full range of community resources by providing educational, vocational or other self improvement opportunities.

ROAD PRISONS

The Department's 9 Road Prisons are located throughout the State and serve the primary purpose of providing work for the inmates and support groups for public works and services through such agencies as the Department of Transportation, State Forestry Department and other State agencies. While the inmates are not as free as those of the Community Correctional Centers and Probation and Restitution Centers, they perform work in the community, on the roads and forests, and assume other tasks under supervision. They provide a service to the State which is more economical than private labor, while at the same time learn good work habits and have the opportunity to learn new skills. Inmates in Road Prisons also participate in community activities. For example, Niceville Road Prison was honored with an Accomodation Letter from Governor Graham for its assistance in the restoration of the old hospital building for the Okaloosa Council on Aging. Other types of programs are exemplified by those of the Big Pine Key Road Prison where inmates, working with the Chamber of Commerce, helped construct a Little League ball field and, working with the local Lions Club, co-sponsored and ran a Halloween Carnival for the children of the lower Keys. In addition to these community activities, excellent programs have been developed for improvement of education, vocational training and individual counseling in each of the facilities.

Inmates from the Tallahassee Road Prison assist in relocation of State offices.

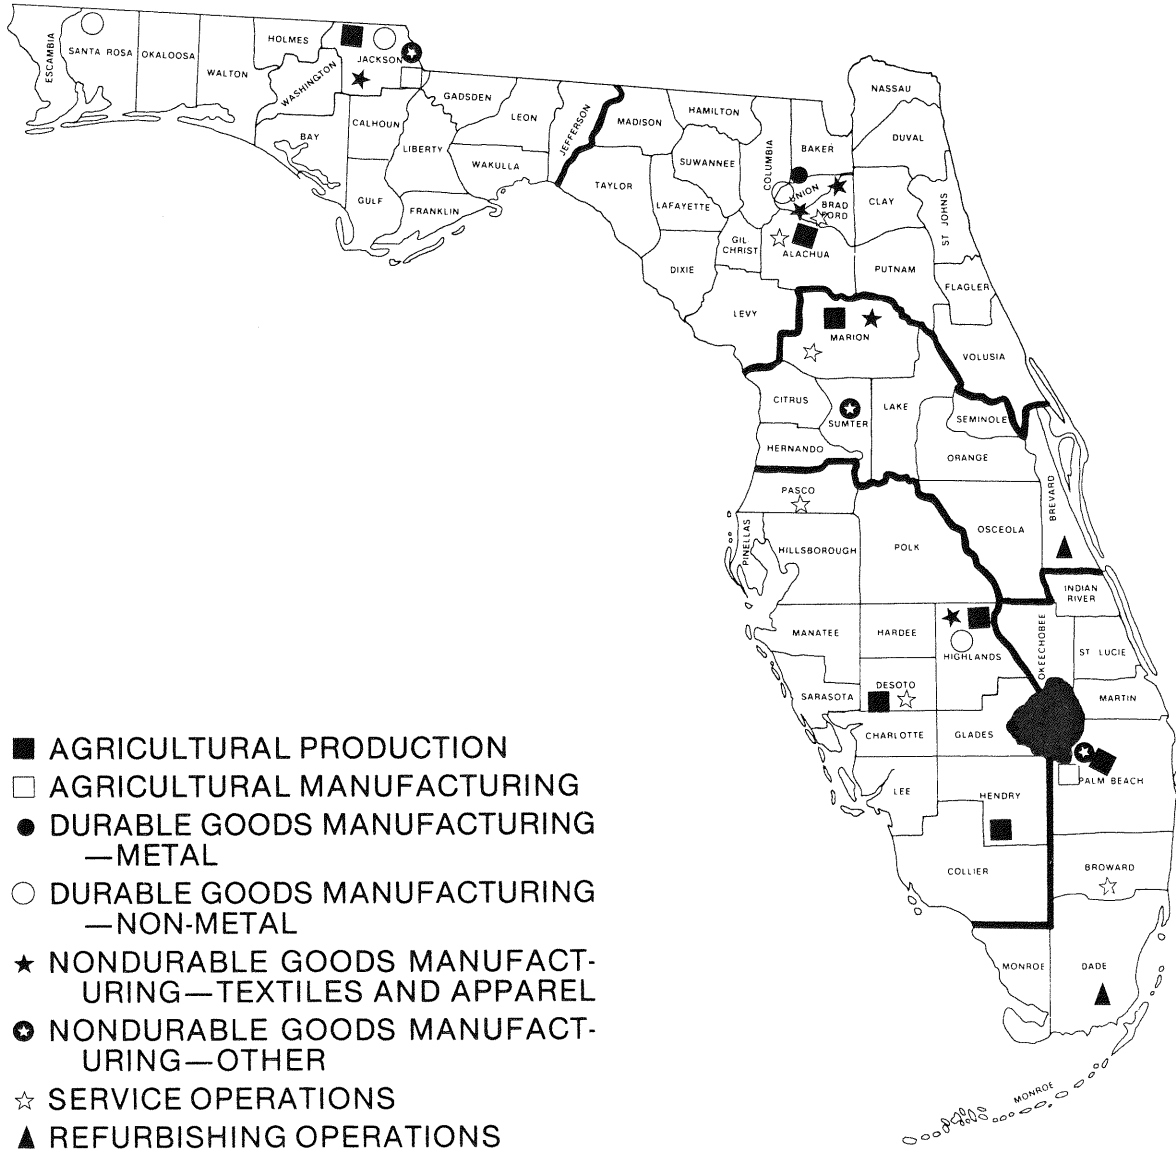

VOCATIONAL CENTERS

Four Vocational Centers, located in North Florida, are specialized training facilities devoted to intensive vocational training for individual offenders with marginal level skills and reduced opportunity for employment. These centers provide the offender with an opportunity to identify their individual needs and acquire the necessary skills and training to obtain suitable employment upon release. Vocational programs include cooking and baking, forestry skills, maintenance, construction and building trades, welding, and automotive body and repair. The main thrust of these programs is directed toward developing entry level skills in occupations to promote success when the individual is released into the community. Offenders trained in these vocational programs also render a service to the Department of Corrections through the utilization of their vocational skills in the Department prior to their release from incarceration.

CORRECTIONAL INDUSTRIES

CORRECTIONAL INDUSTRIES

The Correctional Industries Program is operated under the provisions of Section 945.16, of the Florida Statutes. This statute specifies what can be produced, manufactured, processed or grown. Also specified in this statute are the customers to whom products and services may be sold.

The Correctional Industries Program was established in 1957 with an appropriation of $250,000 and creation of an Industrial Trust Fund. In 1976, the Department received approximately $11 million to expand the Industries Program with a projected 1983 completion date. During the past six years expansion has included:

- Implementing thirty-one new programs
- Adding an additional 1,153 inmate work stations
- Increasing income by $11,602,497
- Initiating Industries Programs in ten additional facilities

Systematic expansion of Industries is essential because of the enormous investment required to establish each new program. Market analyses are conducted to substantiate the need for goods and services and to determine future programs.

Prison Industries Commission and the Department of Corrections for the establishment of new programs. In selecting new programs, the following criteria are considered:

- Production volume of the new industry will be adequate to sustain a level of self-sufficiency that will not be detrimental to the total correctional work program trust fund.
- The economic benefit to the Department of Corrections through effective utilization of inmates will reduce reliance of the Department upon external sources of supply.
- New Industry will provide a product and service that is practical and adaptable to a correctional setting and can be operated on a relatively efficient basis, primarily by inmates.
- Inmate training opportunities will be provided that are reasonably broad, will develop specific skills and will motivate inmates to use their ability while incarcerated.
- A product or service that is needed and used by State agencies, institutions or political subdivision will be produced.
- New industry will not present undue competition to private enterprise.
- New industry will be cost effective indicating a reasonable balance between the original cost of program establishment and return of investment to the State through production value and economic benefit by effective use of inmates.
- Training programs associated with new industry will have relevance, either directly or through transferable basic skills, to work skills in the private job sector.
- Useful work experience will be provided that will assist inmates in developing attitudes favorable to work.
- New industry will assist in overall work program balance as to types of operations, products and inmate training opportunities provided.

The Department of Corrections intends to continue the growth and improvement of the Industries Program on a carefully planned basis. Before implementing a new industry, a feasibility analysis is conducted. This analysis will indicate if the product is marketable; where the market exists; if the product can be competitively produced; the cost of developing and initiating the program; determine if the program can be operated within the constraints of the correctional system. Feasibility studies have been completed for five planned industry programs. These include:

- Binder Manufacturing Operation - Cross City Correctional Institution
- Dental Prosthetics Manufacturing - Dade Correctional Institution
- Reupholstery Service - Lawtey Correctional Institution

- School Bus Renovation - Sumter Correctional Institution
- Paper Conversion - Zephyrhills Correctional Institution

Feasibility studies for the following Industries Programs are presently being developed:

- Battery Renovation
- Paint Brush and Roller Production
- Gasohol Production
- Microfiche Operation for Probation & Parole Services
- Paper Recycling for Capital Office Complex
- Cell Fixtures
- Typewriter Repair

As a result of Governor Graham's interest in, and the importance of, the Correctional Industries Program, this Department embarked upon the development of an Industries Long-range Functional Plan. If Correctional Industries is to reach its maximum potential in the production of goods and services and the provision of marketable skills to inmates, a number of policy issues need to be resolved. These issues include:

- CONSOLIDATION VS. DIVERSIFICATION
 - Should current industries programs be continued and expanded rather than implementing new programs and introducing new products?
- MARKET PRIORITIES
 - When studying new items, should priority be given to meeting the needs of this agency or the needs of other agencies?
 - What products have the greatest market potential and how comprehensive a market analysis is required?
- CAPITAL DEMAND
 - What are the funding sources and what amount of expenditures should be channeled into major operational expansion and capital equipment?
- FREE VENTURE OR PRIVATE SECTOR INVOLVEMENT
 - Should the Department adopt a Free Venture Model, that is, a model designed to emulate the outside work atmosphere as closely as possible within the prison setting?
 - Should the private sector join with the State in cooperative business efforts, i.e., private industry managed prison shops either on a contract basis for management services or a joint enterprise?
- AGRICULTURE VS. MANUFACTURING
 - Should agricultural programs be eliminated as a result of continuing operating losses?
 - Should agricultural lands be leased to private industries and lease funds be utilized to establish more profitable manufacturing programs?

RECOMMENDATIONS

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Governor's Advisory Committee on Corrections has worked closely with the Department in reviewing and revising the preceding goals and objectives of the Department for the 1981-83 biennium. The Advisory Committee has also made periodic reports to the Governor on recommendations to improve Corrections in Florida.

The following recommendations are consistent with the Governor's goals, the Department's goals and objectives, and in response to well documented problems of the Department:

1. Highest priority should be given to providing salary parity for Correctional Officers and Probation and Parole Officers with other state law enforcement officers. A giant step forward was made by the last session of the Legislature through substantial increases in salaries and benefits, but Correctional Officers still lag behind other state law enforcement officers by approximately $1,400.00 per year.
2. The critical staffing needs of institutions should be provided in order to maintain the safety and control of the Department's correctional facilities and to meet established staffing standards. It is mandatory, as the Department's population increases, that additional staff be provided to enable facilities to operate at maximum capacities.
3. The Workhour Formula for staffing Probation and Parole Services should be completely funded on a statewide basis. The pilot program in Region III has been successful and demonstrates that an adequately staffed probation and parole services function will not only provide closer supervision of those on probation or parole, but will increase confidence in probation and parole supervision by the Judges of the state. Additionally, full funding of the Workhour Formula will provide the necessary staff to insure more creditable pre-sentence investigations and submissions of investigations to the courts on a timely basis.
4. Priority should be given to increased funding for existing community based alternatives to incarceration. The Department is committed, where feasible and consistent with public interest and safety, to utilize to the greatest extent possible, the use of Pre-trial Intervention Programs, Probation and Restitution Centers, Community Correctional Centers, Women's Adjustment Centers and Probation and Parole. Expansion of diversionary and community based programs should continue to be stressed not only because of the cost benefit to the tax payers of Florida, but also, in order to provide additional beds in major institutions for those people who need to be separated from society by virtue of their criminal acts.

5. The Governor and Legislature should make a commitment to a multi-year plan to provide adequate bed space in new institutions to accommodate the population projections of the Department and to conform with the settlement in the Costello vs. Wainwright court decision. The Governor and Legislature should attempt to rectify the historical problem of locating sites for institutions by mandating that local governments be required to reserve sites in their land use plans for correctional facilities.
6. The training staff of the Department should be significantly increased to insure adequate staff training for all classes of department employees. It is incumbent upon the Department to insure that each employee has the proper knowledge and skills which will enable him/her to perform in an efficient and humane manner. Staff training and development is a continuous need and new skills are needed as the profile of incarcerated offenders changes and as the case loads of persons under probation or parole supervision increase.
7. The Department's mental health plan should be fully funded to provide adequate facilities and professional staff to insure the availability of psychological, psychiatric and para-professional mental health services to those offenders who must be treated in correctional institutions.
8. Funding for Food Services should continue to be increased in order to achieve parity with other institutionalized persons in order to provide nutritious and properly prepared meals.
9. Chapter 20.315, F.S. should be amended to eliminate the current mandated structure of the Department. Currently, only the organizational structure of the Department of Corrections and the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services are detailed in the statutes. The Secretary of the Department needs more flexibility in modifying the organizational structure of the Department to provide the most efficient management of the Department in order to fulfill its goals and objectives.
10. The Department is committed to further expansion of its Correctional Industries Program. Increase capitalization of the Correctional Industries Trust Fund is needed for buildings and equipment in order to provide increased work opportunities for inmates. Diversification of Correctional Industry Programs is necessary to enhance profits and counteract losses.
11. The Legislature should carefully analyze the fixed operating cost of operating correctional facilities, such as utilities, insurance and other non-variable costs.

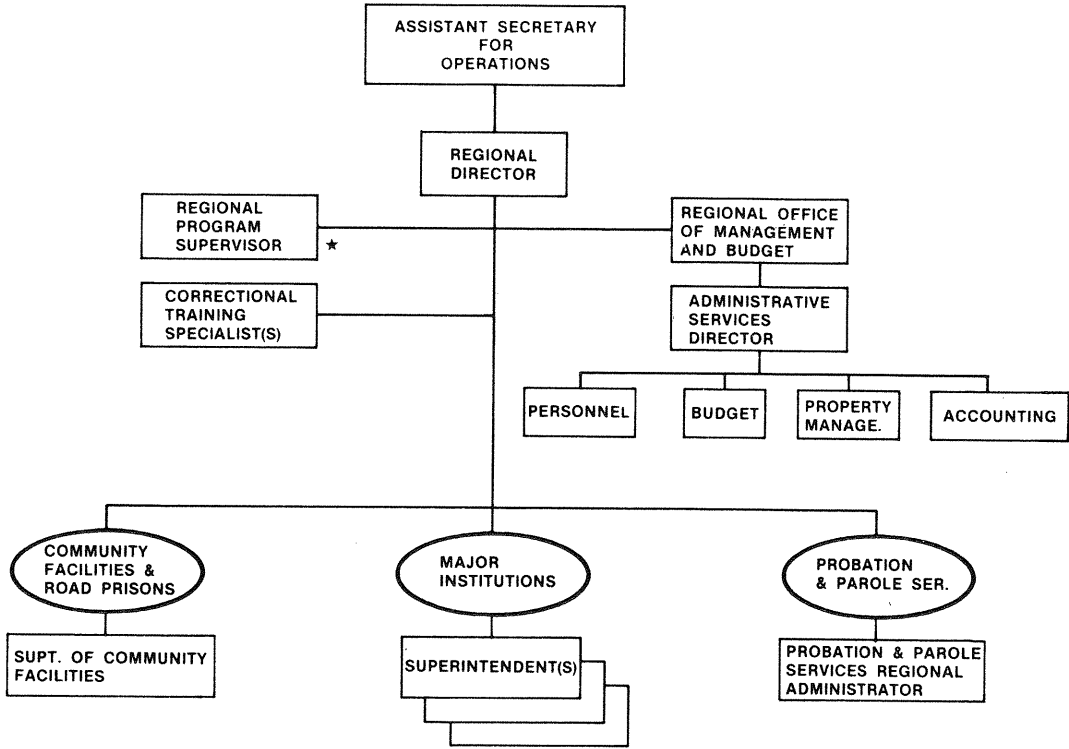

Additional funding should provide adequately for these fixed costs as well as provide necessary funds for other expenses in program service delivery.

12. The Legislature should provide necessary staff and funds to implement programs for the developmentally disabled, mentally retarded and other special needs of inmates.
13. Sufficient funds and staff should be appropriated to insure that Health Services meet the basic needs of incarcerated inmates in compliance with accepted standards. It is essential that the salaries of health professionals be increased, not only to attract more qualified staff, but also to retain capable staff once employed.
14. Academic and Vocational education facilities, staff, supplies and equipment should be provided in order to insure, on a priority basis, that those inmates in youthful offender institutions receive the necessary job skills for employment upon release.
15. Since 1975 the Department of Corrections and the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services have attempted to secure the necessary funding to implement a state Chaplaincy Plan which has been cooperatively developed by the two agencies. It is recommended that the Governor and Legislature make a commitment to the full funding of this plan, updated 1981, in order to provide increased religious opportunities for all offenders. Additional staff and some additional facilities are necessary to provide sufficient religious opportunities for inmates in major institutions.
16. Resources need to be mobilized to assist the Department in successfully providing increased post release employment opportunities for offenders released from the Department back into local communities.
17. Additional staff should be provided to evaluate and monitor the effectiveness of all ongoing Department programs and to evaluate the feasibility of new programs to address the needs of all offenders.
18. The Legislature should provide the necessary funds to assist the Department in expanding self help programs which are geared to assist inmates in becoming responsible for their own behavior. Through life skills programs already implemented in major institutions and through various other programs geared to assist inmates in modifying their behavior, inmates should be given the opportunity to establish value systems which will result in their leading crime free lives.

STATUS OF REGIONALIZATION

The Department of Corrections is represented throughout the State of Florida by five regional offices. Each regional office is headed by a Regional Director who is responsible to the Assistant Secretary for Operations. The Regional Director supervises the operation of major institutions, Probation and Parole Services, community facilities, Office of Management and Budget and other Departmental functions in the region. This regional structure was established in 1976 as mandated by the Correctional Organizational Act of 1975 enacted by the Florida Legislature. The purpose of this reorganization was to decentralize the day-to-day administrative operations of the Department, thus providing a more efficient and effective decision making structure.

During FY 1980-81, the Governor's Advisory Council on Corrections reviewed potential problems of the Department and, in considering the state of the art of the Department of Corrections, surfaced some concern regarding regional operations and requested a study be made of the efficiency of regional operations. As a result, the Department requested the National Institute of Corrections to contract with the Wharton School of Business for technical assistance in evaluating the regional structure of the Florida system in the form of a professionally researched study. The Wharton Research Team was asked to provide the Department with recommendations regarding alternatives to the regional concept and structure.

The Wharton evaluation team interviewed, in addition to the top management of the Department, all Regional Directors, 28 Departmental staff in the field, 2 members of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Corrections, 2 members of the Regional Advisory Committee, a legislator and a deputy to the Governor.

The Wharton report concluded the following:

- "We have not been able to find an administrative, economic or programmatic reason that explains why regionalization of the Department of Corrections occurred. Rather, it seems to have been primarily an expedient thing to do. In 1975, the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services was regionalized by the legislature, mostly for programmatic reasons, to be more responsive to human service needs at the local level. It would appear that in order for the then Division of Corrections to become independent of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services it, too, had to be regionalized."
- Current regional structure is fairly effective in support of Probation and Parole Services, moderately effective in the provision of services to community facilities and ineffective in the delivery of services to major institutions.
- Although some general alternatives were provided by the report, only two definitive recommendations were made concerning regionalization:
 - "We are making only one recommendation concerning regionalization per se and that is the status quo not be allowed to continue."
 - "In comparison with other state systems we have examined, the Florida Department of Corrections is solid, stable and effective. We find both the leadership and staff competent, responsible professionals. Given these findings...we believe that recommendations for reorganization of the Florida Department of Corrections should come from within the Department."

Subsequent to a review of the Wharton study on regionalization, the Department has received input from a statewide task force appointed by the Secretary. Additionally, the Department has reviewed recommendations from staff of the Senate Corrections Committee and will respond to these recommendations during the 1982 legislative session.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE TRENDS

CRIMINAL JUSTICE, EMPLOYMENT AND POPULATION TRENDS AFFECTING CORRECTIONS

The new growth of the inmate population and the probation and parole caseload of the Department of Corrections is the result of varying rates of admissions and releases. It appears to be related to several factors over which the Department has no control. These factors include Florida population growth, the rate of crime among the younger male population, the rate of unemployment in the State, rates of arrest and prosecution, and sentencing policies of the judiciary within a structure of changing statutes.

- POPULATION AT RISK INCREASED 7.8% DURING THE 1980 CALENDAR YEAR

The rate of commitment for both the prison population and probation and parole caseload is related primarily to the number of male adults in the State, 18 to 29 years of age. This age group, called the Population at Risk, has been responsible for a high proportion of Florida's prison admissions since 1960 (approximately 75% of all admitted inmates are in this age group.)

FLORIDA MALE POPULATION GROWTH FOR AGES 18-29 YEARS
(1978 - 82)

*Change from 1979-80 Annual Report due to recalculation of this data point

Data supplied by the U.S. Census Bureau and The Bureau of Economic & Business Research, University of Florida, Gainesville, Florida.

- IT IS ESTIMATED THERE WILL BE AN INCREASE OF 128 PRISON ADMISSIONS FOR EACH ADDITIONAL 10,000 MALES (AGE 18-29) ADDED TO FLORIDA'S GENERAL POPULATION

Because sufficient data has not been available regarding law enforcement and court activities, the relationship between the population at risk, unemployment and prison admissions has been especially significant in developing forecasts of the growth of the prison population.

- FLORIDA'S AVERAGE UNEMPLOYMENT RATE INCREASED 0.5% FOR CALENDAR YEAR 1980

The rate of prison admission from the population at risk historically has been tied to the rate of unemployment in response to increases in criminal activity during periods of high unemployment.

FLORIDA UNEMPLOYMENT RATE
(1978 - 82)

*Average unemployment rates supplied by the Florida Division of Employment Security

- IT IS ESTIMATED THERE WILL BE AN ADDITIONAL 266 PRISON ADMISSIONS FOR EACH INCREASE OF 1% IN THE STATES ANNUAL AVERAGE UNEMPLOYMENT RATE

- INDEX CRIMES IN FLORIDA INCREASED 6% DURING CALENDAR YEAR 1980

The Uniform Crime Report provides a general indicator of criminal activity in the state. Crime report data historically has not been related to prison admissions. This may be explained by the fact that the Uniform Crime Report counts crimes, not criminals. In addition, the index crimes reported include a significant number of misdemeanor offenses not resulting in prison admissions.

CRIME TREND DATA CALENDAR YEARS 1978-80

INMATE ADMISSIONS AND RELEASES

- THERE WAS A NET GAIN OF 1857 INMATES AND THE TOTAL PRISON ADMISSIONS FOR THIS FISCAL YEAR INCREASED BY 15.3% AS COMPARED TO FISCAL YEAR 1979-80
 - New admissions from the court increased 13.7%
 - Admissions of violators of parole and mandatory conditional release increased 23.6%

- PRISON RELEASES DECREASED BY 7.4% THIS FISCAL YEAR COMPARED TO FISCAL YEAR 1979-80

COMMUNITY SUPERVISION INTAKES AND LOSSES

The rate of growth of probation and parole cases is affected by changes in certain variables similar to those used to predict prison admissions. However, increases in the supervision caseload are the direct result of the rate of parole and mandatory conditional release from prison, as well as new probation commitments from the circuit courts.

It should be noted that with improved reporting resulting from full implementation of the probation and parole information system, the trends below may not accurately reflect the degree or rate of change, but they are generally considered to be valid indicators of direction of growth.

● SUPERVISION INTAKE FOR FISCAL YEAR 1980-81 WAS 1.9% LESS THAN THE PREVIOUS YEAR

- Felony probation intake increased 5.4% over last year
- Parole intake decreased 28.4% over the previous year

*Since July, 1975, all misdemeanor probationers under state supervision are those sentenced by the circuit courts. These offenders were originally charged as felons but have had charges reduced as a result of plea bargaining.
 Work Release from 1979-80 report for comparison was 134.

● SUPERVISION LOSSES FOR FISCAL YEAR 1980-81 INCREASED 5.6% OVER THE PREVIOUS YEAR

SUPERVISION CASELOAD LOSSES FOR THE PAST TWO FISCAL YEARS

INTERSTATE COMPACT TRANSFERS

● INTERSTATE COMPACT TRANSFERS DURING THE 1980-81 FISCAL YEAR BETWEEN STATES INCREASED 3.3% OVER THE PREVIOUS YEAR

- FLORIDA SENT 550 PAROLEES TO OTHER STATES FOR SUPERVISION
- FLORIDA RECEIVED 508 PAROLEES FROM OTHER STATES TO SUPERVISE
- FLORIDA SENT 2670 PROBATIONERS TO OTHER STATES FOR SUPERVISION
- FLORIDA RECEIVED 1913 PROBATIONERS FROM OTHER STATES FOR SUPERVISION

STATISTICS

INCARCERATED OFFENDERS

The graphs in this section have been contrast tinted to enable the reader to identify trends and important projected data.

The continued refinement of our computerized data system has permitted inclusion of demographic information for incarcerated inmates and probationers/parolees for two time periods:

- Inmates admitted to the custody of the Department of Corrections during FY 1980-81
- Inmates in custody of the Department as of June 30, 1981

DEFINITION OF TERMS:

- AVERAGE: The arithmetic mean, derived by adding all values and dividing by the number of such values.
- MEDIAN: The middle number in an array of values, with roughly 50% of the values above and 50% of the values below the median.
- MODE: The member in an array of values with the highest frequency occurrence.

Due to limitations of space in an annual report, a limited amount of data is included in the report. Data from reports which previously appeared in the Biennial Report Series is available upon specific request from the Research and Statistics Section of the Bureau of Planning, Research and Statistics.

PROBATION AND PAROLE STATISTICS

The following pages contain statistics concerning probationers and parolees under the supervision of the Department of Corrections. The probation and parole caseload continues to increase. The Department continues its emphasis upon diversionary programs and these programs, hopefully, will reduce the number of institutional beds necessary in the future. Consequently, an even greater probation and parole caseload is anticipated in the years to come.

ACTUAL PAROLE AND PROBATION CASELOAD UNDER SUPERVISION (1974-81) AND CASELOAD PROJECTIONS THROUGH 1984

*The drop in Probation and Parole caseload in 1974 was caused by removing those offenders charged with and convicted of misdemeanors from Department of Corrections caseloads.
