A MESSAGE FROM SECRETARY RICHARD L. DUGGER

During Fiscal Year 1987-88, the Department met a number of challenges which reflected the States' continuing growth and the resultant extraordinary increase in prison admissions and population. This circumstance literally demanded creative correctional administration. The judicious use of Administrative Gain Time, increases in the Basic Release Assistance (BRAP) and Supervised Community Release (SCR) programs, expansion of community-based diversionary alternatives and "quick" construction to increase bed capacity were instrumental in the successful management and retention of the Department's inmate population within lawful capacity. At the end of the fiscal year, BRAP releases had increased from about 400 to 1,521 per month. The number of inmates released to Supervised Community Release increased from approximately 400 to 700 per month. The new Transition Assistance Program (TAP) was implemented to help inmates bridge the gap between incarceration and the free society. Court felony dispositions increased for Pretrial Intervention, Probation, and Community Control to the extent consistent with public safety. There were 84,138 offenders under supervision at the closing of the fiscal year.

The 1987 Legislature appropriated 4,158 new prison beds as a result of the Governor's initiatives. Use of "quick" construction and inmate labor for new beds resulted in dramatic savings in construction costs. Three new major correctional institutions were opened during the year. Sites for these institutions and for work/forestry camps were donated to the State in six Florida counties. A new prison design permitted the expansion of existing "quick" construction facilities to accommodate close custody inmates.

An innovative Basic Training Program (Boot Camp) was established in October, 1987 for the purpose of diverting youthful offenders from institutional to community supervision. Preliminary analysis of this highly visible program indicates a great potential for success.

During the fiscal year, medical services of the Department were expanded and staffing levels greatly increased. The organizational structure of Health Services was completely realigned to ensure accountability, quality of services, compliance with protocols and policies and cost control. A professional Health Service Administrator, having correctional experience, was employed to manage administrative functions of health services. Chronically ill inmates incarcerated in six major institutions were shifted, in a major reassignment effort, from rural areas to urban locations where needed care could be more readily obtained.

A determined effort to expand utilization of inmates for work programs resulted in work squads under armed supervision being organized at seven institutions. The squads consist of close custody inmates, many of whom would otherwise be idle. These squads were in addition to the many inmate volunteer work squads which are employed on community beautification projects and other authorized work details.

During FY 1987-88 the Community Control Program was expanded. An estimated 32% increase in the Community Control caseload may be attributed to increased emphasis on diversions from prison prompted by greater ability to supervise offenders using electronic devices. A total of 296 active electronic monitoring units were placed in seven urban areas in the State. Passive electronic surveillance devices are operating in ten areas throughout the State.

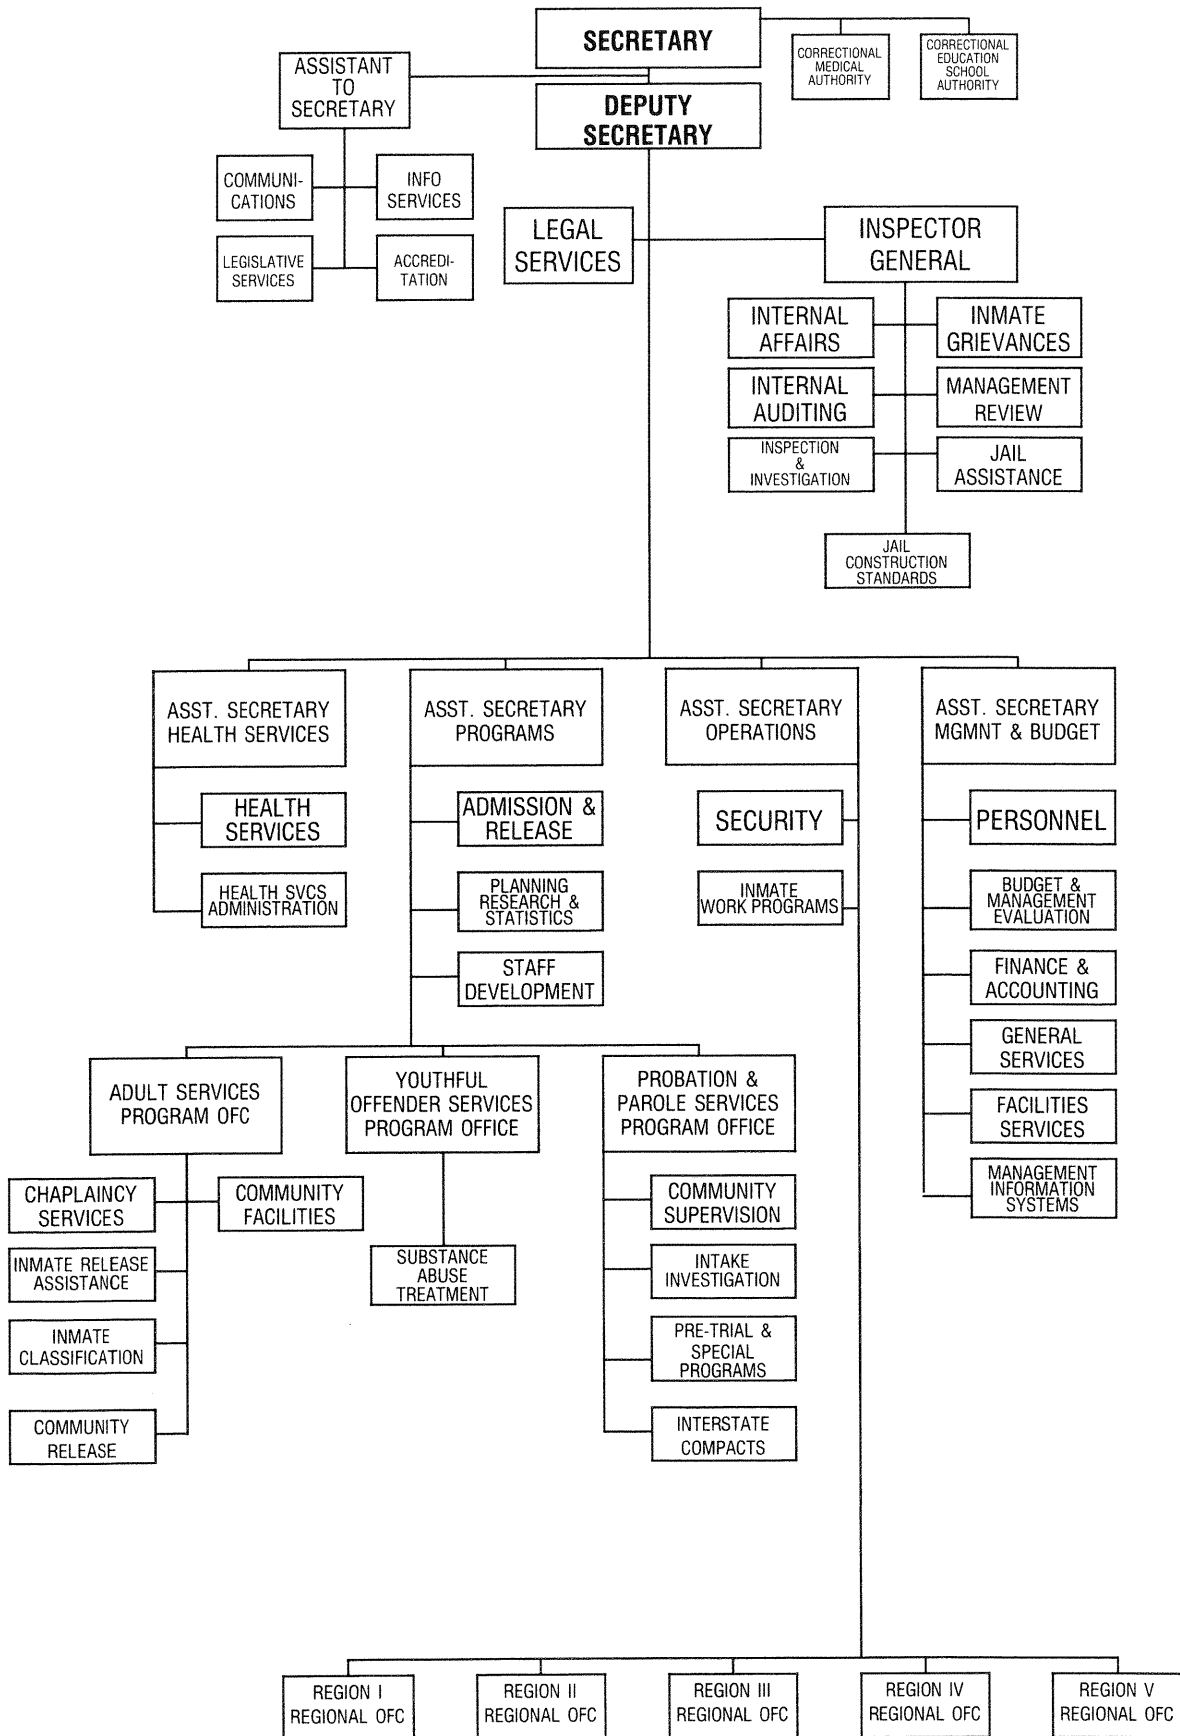

Fifteen of twenty judicial circuits are utilizing some type of electronic monitoring device. The response to electronic monitoring programs by judges and law enforcement officials has been very supportive.

The Department successfully competed with correctional departments of other states for funding to develop and implement a model Comprehensive Substance Abuse Program. Over one million dollars was awarded to the State of Florida for treatment of substance abusing offenders. This grant has placed Florida in the forefront of inmate substance abuse treatment among all states.

The Department initiated significant cost savings measures and improved productivity. These efforts included the issuance of canvas shoes in lieu of leather brogans to inmates where job assignments make this feasible and use of inmate labor in construction of "quick" beds. This form of construction saved the State $109,000,000 during the year. Donated prison sites provided a value to the State of over $900,000.00. Also, the automation and centralization of inmate banking operations permitted increased accountability and interest earnings. Effectiveness of Probation and Parole Supervision was enhanced by automation of probation and parole office operations. This has increased available time for officers to supervise offenders individually.

In summary, Fiscal Year 1987/88 has been one of challenge and progress. To the employees of the Department who made this progress a reality I extend my congratulations and appreciation for jobs well done. We must persist in pressing forward in the coming year. The inmate population continues to rise; we are facing the need to deal with aging inmates in numbers greater than we have seen in past years; victim's rights are expanding, placing additional responsibilities on the Department; new initiatives such as provisional release credits, must be implemented effectively. These and other challenges to come will further test our creativity, initiative and resolve. They mandate continuing effort for improvement in every area of departmental operations.

ACTIVITIES

BASIC TRAINING PROGRAM

The Department initiated a new diversionary program on October 1, 1987 in accordance with a legislative mandate. The Basic Training Program is a military type program for youthful offenders, frequently referred to as "Boot Camp". It was established utilizing an existing single cell dormitory at Sumter Correctional Institution.

Youthful offenders in the Program are separated from adult offenders by internal fencing. An essential component in motivating youthful offenders to do well in the Program is the very real possibility of failing and thus being returned to regular prison and serving the complete time required.

Based upon carefully drawn criteria participants are selected by the Department and recommended to the sentencing court for entry in the Program. Upon successful completion of the 90-120 day program offenders are released on probation to complete their sentences. Florida's Program incorporates a broad based concept wherein inmates are subjected on a daily basis to hard work and counseling to improve their decision making processes and promote acceptance of responsibility. Physical exercise, including an imposing obstacle course, and substance abuse programming are integral parts of the Program. All aspects of the Program are characterized by strict, military style discipline and accountability. The inmates wear specialized uniforms and conform to stringent dress codes. Group movements are done to marching cadences. The daily regimen begins at 4:00 AM. Privileges such as television, and radio and access to telephones are completely eliminated.

An inmate counts pushups aloud while closely supervised by correctional officers.

Other privileges such as visiting and free time are used to motivate positive inmate participation.

Staff supervising the Program are especially selected and trained correctional officers, who also serve as role models for the youthful offenders in the Program. These officers must maintain top physical conditioning, since they are required to march or run with the inmate groups and demonstrate proper execution of drill and exercise movements.

In the first nine months, 232 inmates have been admitted. Early indications are that about two thirds will successfully complete the Program and be released on probation.

A new inmate double-times to his squad with his property.

The daily regimen requires all inmates to press their clothing and "spit-shine" their shoes.

Marching discipline is displayed by a platoon nearing completion of basic training.

INMATE LABOR PROGRAMS

Historically, the Department of Corrections has provided inmate labor to cities, counties, and other state agencies, through the Inmate Work Program. This program supplies free labor to perform work projects normally beyond resources of those agencies and municipalities, thus providing a service and cost savings to taxpayers.

The work program reduces inmate idleness; assists inmates with transition to the "free" community by teaching or sharpening work skills and provides a sense of accomplishment through positive work experiences. All of this is designed to promote the work ethic in individual inmates.

Currently, the Department provides approximately 2,500 inmate workers statewide to work on projects for other state agencies, federal agencies, counties, cities, and non-profit organizations. Labor is provided under three authorized programs: Public Works Trust Fund Projects, Department of Transportation (DOT) highway maintenance projects, and Interagency/Community Service agreements.

Public Works Trust Fund: In 1985 the Florida Legislature created Florida Statute 946.40, which established the Public Works program with funds from the cost-of-supervision payments made by probationers and parolees. Projects include landscaping and maintenance of parks and recreation areas, and building repairs as well as numerous other worthwhile services.

Department of Transportation Labor Contracts: Under a contractual agreement with the Department of Transportation (DOT), the Department of Corrections provides inmate labor for work crews. Projects include road maintenance, mowing of highway medians and right-of-ways, weed control, cleaning of drainage ditches, litter removal, and many other similar activities. The annual DOT contract provides the primary funding source for the operation of the Department of Corrections' seven road prisons.

Interagency/Community Service Agreements: Interagency work squads also serve other governmental agencies, cities, counties, and non-profit organizations. Each year over a million hours of labor are provided by these work crews. An estimated savings, or cost avoidance, in excess of 4 million dollars is accrued to the taxpayers of Florida. Projects include moving furniture, food distribution, beautification, maintenance projects, and many other work functions.

In addition to the previously mentioned inmate work options the Department assigns over 17,000 inmate workers to jobs that are essential to the operation of the state's correctional facilities. Some 2,000 of those inmates work for Prison Rehabilitative Industries and Diversified Enterprises (PRIDE), of Florida, Inc., the non-profit business organization which produces goods for use by state agencies.

During the fiscal year, when computed at the rate of $3.77 per hour, an estimated $8 million worth of labor (not including DOT contract work) was provided to authorized agencies and governments, statewide, by inmate work crews.

Inmates also assist in keeping Florida's highways free of litter.

STRATEGIC APPLICATION OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

CPO II Jamie Walker loads a computer tape in Jacksonville Probation and Parole Circuit Office. The automated system handles all word processing and offender tracking for Jacksonville, Gainesville, Bronson, Stark and Lake City P & P Offices.

Offender Based Information System

The Department's major day-to-day operational computer data base system continued to improve through the implementation of many extensions and enhancements to its functions and features. This system is nationally known and has been transferred to several other state correctional systems. The daily transaction rate reached a record level in FY 87/88. This indicates heavy use by department staff.

Office Automation/Automated Intake

During Fiscal Year 1987-88, the Department continued to expand on the highly successful Daytona Beach Pilot Project for automating the probation and parole intake process. During the year, the Bureau of MIS, with funding from the Legislature, was able to expand the system into the Orlando, Broward, Tampa, Jacksonville and Gainesville probation and parole circuits. The system automates much of the preparation, tracking and administration of the pre-sentence investigation process which requires so much of a probation officer's time. It allows the officers to concentrate more on supervising offenders and less on "paperwork". Major improvements included reductions in investigation backlog and staff turnover. Other benefits included reduced costs of mail and messenger time, reduced forms inventory and improved ability to share workload peaks among geographically separated offices. Additionally it enabled staff to focus on delinquent Cost of Supervision accounts. The Department will continue to implement the system in the remaining circuits as funding permits.

Automated Reception Center System: During FY 87-88, The Bureau of MIS installed a distributed processing computer system at the Reception and Medical Center at Lake Butler. When fully operational, this system will reduce much of the paperwork in the intensive reception process to a more efficient computer assisted procedure. The process will allow for machine-readable transfer of intake documents from Probation and Parole offices and subsequent automated tie-in to the Department's Offender Based Information System.

Community Facilities: The Department brought on-line twenty (20) community facilities by installing computer terminals and printers which access the Offender Based Information System in Tallahassee.

Florida Department of Law Enforcement and County Criminal Justice Tie-in: During FY 87-88, the Department tied-in eighteen (18) additional probation and parole offices to the FCIC/NCIC data base of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement allowing for speedier, more complete pre-sentence investigations. Also, the Department has provided two (2) additional probation and parole circuits access to their local criminal justice computer systems.

Criminal Justice Information Technician Diane Gunning inputs new Probation & Parole cases into the data base.

CONSTRUCTION PROGRAMS

The Department placed priority on the construction of facilities providing new beds and the correction of fire safety deficiencies during the fiscal year. There were two separate approaches to the construction of new beds: construction contracts for single cell prototype facilities and the use of inmate labor for "quick" construction facilities. A total of 3,861 beds were constructed and brought on-line during FY 87-88.

Construction Contracts: All site preparation, utilities, road paving and construction of buildings was accomplished through contractors. Single cell dormitories were constructed with sophisticated electronic locking devices and complex mechanical and structural systems. The complicated process in constructing these larger, multilevel buildings made it impractical to accomplish construction through inmate labor. By using a prototype design, architectural and engineering costs were minimized since the same design was used for each prototype facility. The Department has been utilizing existing State lands or land donated by counties upon which to build prisons. Use of donated land as sites for the construction of new facilities during the Fiscal Year 87-88 saved in excess of $900,000.00.

"Quick" Construction Beds (Inmate Labor): Force account facilities were built in accordance with designs by in-house architects and engineers. All purchasing was done by Central Office or institutional purchasing staff. Extensive use was made of inmate labor during the construction phase.

Inmate labor was used extensively in the construction of Calhoun Correctional Institution, a "quick" construction facility.

Due to more sophisticated construction requirements a private company was contracted to build Orange Correctional Institution.

Three major institutions and five work/forestry camps were constructed in this manner during the fiscal period. All five work/forestry camps, located at Tomoka, Sumter, Madison, Levy and Polk, were substantially completed in nine months.

Construction started on Holmes and Calhoun Correctional Institutions in August, 1987. Six dormitories were completed along with five support buildings during the fiscal year. Construction began on Hamilton Correctional Institution during February, 1987, and was completed except for the confinement, academic and vocational buildings. These "quick" construction facilities are single story, concrete block/slab construction, utilizing a wooden truss roof system. The dormitories are open bay design with the shower area and bathroom facilities centralized in one area. Normally, "quick" construction facilities provide 768 bed institutions at one third the cost of a single cell prototype institution. This type of facility can be completed within approximately 11 months construction time compared to 24 months for the single cell prototype institution.

The Appropriations Act of 1988-89 included planning funds for additional facilities and funding for 4,085 additional beds.

JAIL LITIGATION

In August of 1987, Arias vs. Wainwright, the class action suit challenging the conditions of confinement in Florida's county jails, ended under stipulation and consent decree. This eight year old statewide lawsuit filed on behalf of all county prisoners, stemmed from claims of overcrowding, understaffing, structural deterioration, and other alleged violations of offender constitutional rights. Under obligations of S.951.23, F.S., and the Arias consent decree, it has been necessary for the Department to file 44 state enforcement suits against county governments to bring the jails up to standards.

Inspector James Keen examines locks in a local county jail during a routine inspection.

New jails have been placed under construction and existing jails substantially renovated to improve conditions. Jails continue to be confronted by issues and problems generated by Florida's growing population.

Although the "compliance term" has ended, the Department, through the Inspector General's Inspection and Investigations Division, continues under an obligation to vigorously inspect, regulate, and enforce standards, pursuant to s. 951.23, Florida Statutes.

STATEWIDE SUBSTANCE ABUSE TREATMENT PROGRAM

The Department initiated a substance abuse intervention program which provides services for identified inmates with histories of substance abuse. The program provides essential community and institutional linkages and creates new services as intended by the Florida Legislature. Operations commenced in February 1988. This project utilizes an assessment procedure and a four tier program model to provide a comprehensive array of drug abuse services.

Inmates sentenced to the Department of Corrections undergo assessment procedures at one of five reception locations. The outcome of this procedure allows a rapid assessment of each inmate's substance abuse addiction severity and their readiness for treatment activities.

Tier I, a 30-40 hour program, is an information/orientation component designed for those inmates with less severe substance abuse problems. It consists of literature distribution, short term counseling, group discussion and presentation of program material. Tier II, is an intensive eight-week program, designed as a modified therapeutic community, for inmates with serious substance abuse problems who will not be in the correctional system long enough to participate in a more extensive program. This level is characterized by frequent individual and group counseling and continuous intervention techniques.

Florida Correctional Institution inmates participate in a group discussion as part of Tier I of the Substance Abuse Program.

Tier III, consists of full service therapeutic communities, which serve both female and male inmate populations. Complete implementation of Tier III is scheduled for 1988. Upon placement at a Community Correctional Center, external constraints on offender behavior are minimal. Substance abuse intervention will continue with the implementation of Tier IV, designed specifically to provide counseling services to inmates assigned to Community Correctional Centers by means of contracted services from local providers. The programs will be provided to inmates after they have completed their normal work requirements.

In addition to the four tiers of treatment, the Department also implemented a Drug Abuse Treatment Resource Center (DATRC) located in the Central Office. The Center is responsible for the accumulation, distribution and publication of materials regarding substance abuse for the use of counseling staff and inmates.

PROBATION AND PAROLE SERVICES

Community Control: "House Arrest", an innovative initiative to address prison overcrowding, continues to find favor with judges as a popular diversionary alternative to incarceration. The program provides for home confinement except for authorized movement due to employment and personal necessities. As a result, tremendous cost savings in prison operation and construction costs have been realized.

Electronic Monitoring: Community Control II, a project implemented in 1987, requires offenders to wear electronic anklets which restrict their activities to within 150 feet of their homes unless they are working or involved in other authorized activities. A computer monitors their whereabouts 24 hours a day. Community Control II provides a less costly sanction whereby focus remains on punishment in the community. It is successfully operating in 8 of the 20 judicial circuits.

"Passive" electronic monitoring is an additional element of community control used in Miami and Ft. Lauderdale. Electronic wristlets and verifying units along with computerized programming enables periodic checking on offenders via telephone. Conventional pagers with an accompanying computer system programmed to "page" the offender periodically, supplemented with officers utilizing cellular phones and "voice mailboxes", were the featured components of a third system of electronic monitoring used to monitor compliance with "house arrest" sanctions in St. Petersburg and Sarasota. The almost 300 electronic monitoring units in operation during the fiscal year were used to monitor over 600 offenders who were diverted from prison. These 300 "passive" electronic monitoring units supplemented regular officer surveillance and increased protection to the community.

Cost of Supervision Collections: Although caseloads for officers have been high, Probation and Parole Services collected $16,282,724 last year in monthly supervision fees. These fees were placed in the State Treasury to offset costs of government. Additionally, $11,915,982 was paid to victims of crime for restitution and $6,001,731 in court costs, fines, and public defender fees were paid to the counties by over 80,000 felony offenders.

ACHIEVEMENTS HONORED EMPLOYEES

Employee of the Year: The Department Employee of the Year for 1988 was Martha J. Guynn, a Personnel Technician at Polk C.I. Guynn joined the Department in 1975 as a secretary at Zephyrhills Community Correctional Center. She subsequently held positions in the accounting and personnel departments at Polk C.I. She played a key role in the Institution's transition to automated computer systems, and was recognized for professional contributions which helped Polk C.I. earn recognition as having the "Best Operated Personnel Department" in the Agency in 1986. In recommending her for the state award, Regional Director Bill Booth wrote that Guynn "is not only a very competent, dependable and hard-working employee, but is also recognized for her willingness to handle extra responsibilities in addition to her own job duties."

Correctional Probation Officer of the Year: Robert L. Woody, Community Control Officer in Gainesville, won Correctional Probation Officer honors for 1988. Officer Woody joined the Department almost 10 years ago, and has served as senior Community Control Officer in the North Gainesville Circuit (084) for the past several years. Circuit Administrator, A.N. Proto, recommended Woody for the award, noting that he "has devoted much extra time and attention both to the surveillance and enforcement facets of his position, and to sustained extraordinary efforts to assist and encourage clients to better themselves." In addition, Officer Woody "demonstrated a tireless devotion to his community that is truly exemplary." He is a member of the Gainesville Human Relations Board, the Black on Black Crime Task Force, the NAACP and the Gainesville Police Department Advisory Board. He is also a member of the Alachua County Department of Corrections Advisory Committee.

Correctional Officer of the Year: Sgt. Joseph Gary Keen, is a Correctional Officer at Cross City C.I., was named Correctional Officer of the Year. Sgt. Kean is a seasoned Correctional Officer, having joined the Department 13 years ago. Since then Sgt. Keen has consistently expanded his knowledge and capabilities in the field of corrections. His supervisor, Major D.J. Dekle, describes him as “one of our most dependable employees. He is qualified to work any position we have to offer, and is always willing to take on any task assigned to him.” Sgt. Keen is completing his studies toward a bachelor’s degree in psychology, proof of his commitment to both personal and professional development. Keen is further described as a “responsible supervisor...always willing to spend extra time with the employees under his supervision when they need his assistance.”

*Personnel Services Specialist
Gail Thompson*

Central Office Employee of the Year: Gail Thompson, Personnel Services Specialist, was selected Central Office Employee of the Year. Mrs. Thompson’s job involves dealing with employee complaints; her role is to serve as intermediary between management and the employee. Specifically, she supervises the Employee Relations section in Personnel, which handles Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action claims, union and career services grievances, labor relations contract administration, and assorted problems and complaints from employees. She clearly enjoys her work. Thompson has been with the Department since 1977, when she started in Personnel as an Aide. She is described by her supervisor as “a model employee...hardworking, dedicated and very good at her job.”

Teacher of the Year: Janet Renfroe, an English teacher at A.C.I. was selected Teacher of the Year by the Correctional Education School Authority (CESA). Janet received a Bachelor of Science degree in Social Studies Education from Florida Atlantic University in 1976. She is presently working on a Master's degree in Guidance and Counseling at Florida A & M University. Renfroe has been a teacher at Apalachee Correctional Institution for the past eight years.

Ms. Janet Renfroe

“I’ve always enjoyed a challenge,” said Renfroe, adding that “every day is different. I never know what’s in store for me when I get to class.” Teaching inmates is important to Renfroe. In her opinion, “if we don’t do something about educating inmates, we will continue to support them here (in prison) rather than helping them to become productive citizens who can support themselves.” Renfroe says her hope for correctional education is that it will grow through public support and attention.

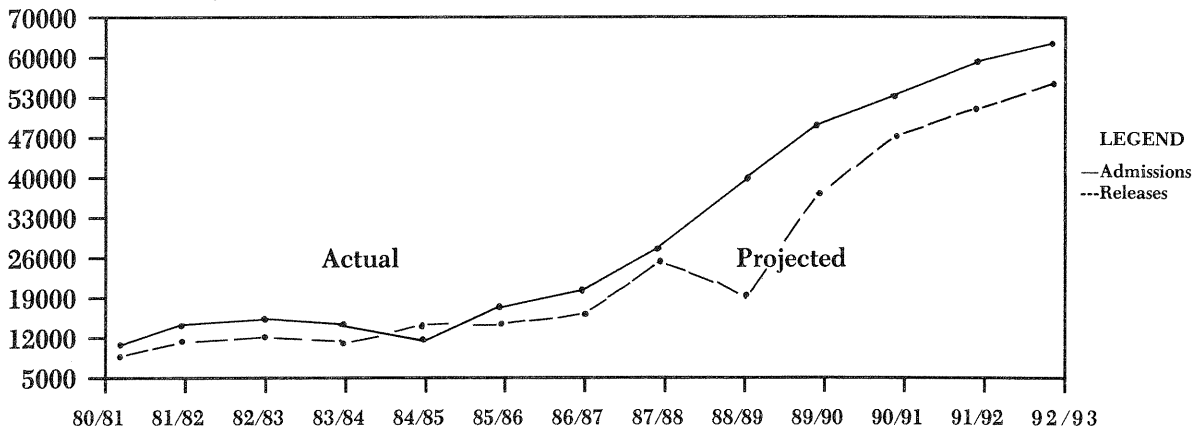

CRIMINAL JUSTICE TRENDS

The size of the inmate population and the probation and parole caseload of the Department of Corrections is the result of varying rates of admissions and releases. Several factors affect the rates of admission including population growth in Florida, crime rates, rates of arrest and prosecution, use of alternative programs, sentencing policies of the judiciary and statutes relating to sentencing. Factors affecting releases include the extent of mandatory sentencing, the existence of parole and other post release supervision programs, sentence length, and policies concerning the award of gain time.

TRENDS IN PRISON ADMISSIONS AND RELEASES

The number of new inmates admitted to prison (new court commitments and violators) has increased from 11,014 in fiscal year 1980-81 to 30,644 in 1987-88, a 178.2% increase over a eight year period. The Criminal Justice Estimating Conference has projected that admissions will increase another 101.7% in the next five years to an annual level of 60,494 in fiscal year 1992-93. Prison releases have increased from 7,591 in 1980-81 to 29,575 in 1987-88, a 289.6% rise. If special early release mechanisms are not used, the prison population is projected to increase to 91,866 inmates by the end of fiscal year 1992-93, an 173% increase from the present level of 33,681.

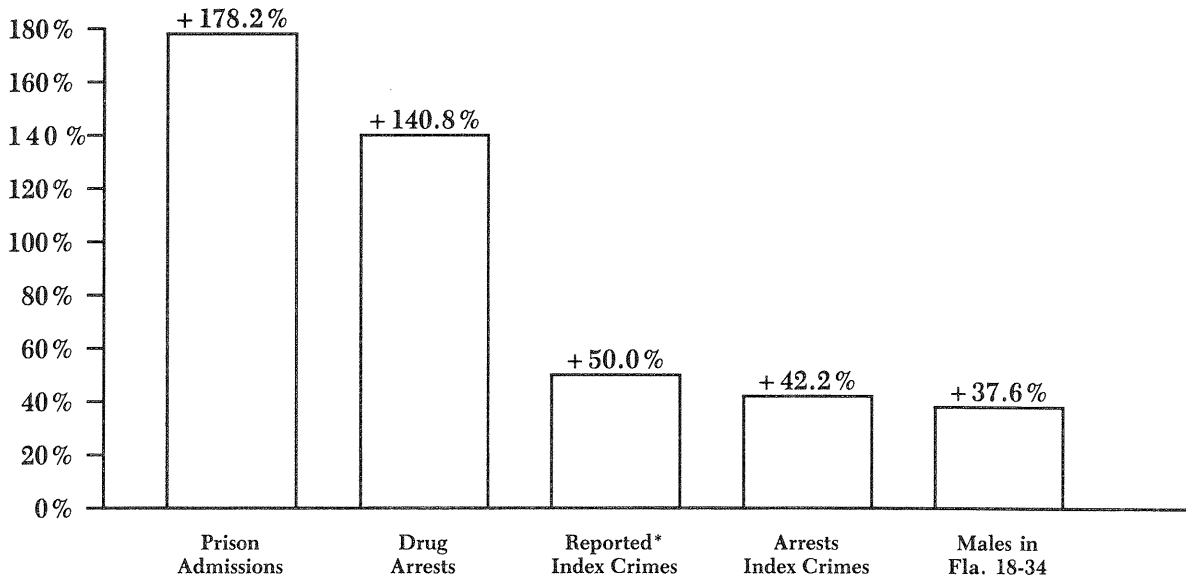

ACTUAL AND PROJECTED ADMISSIONS AND RELEASES: FY 1980-81 — 1992-93

RISE IN ADMISSIONS ASSOCIATED WITH DRUGS AND CRIME

The chart below suggests that increases in crime, especially drug arrests are closely associated with the rise in new prison commitments.

PERCENT CHANGES IN ADMISSIONS, CRIME AND POPULATION: 1979 — 1988

* Index crimes include Murder, Rape, Robbery, Burglary, Aggravated Assault, Larceny, and Auto Theft. Crime Data is from calendar years 1979-1987. Admissions and population data is from fiscal years 1979-80 — 1987-88.

NEW COMMITMENTS AS A PERCENT OF GUILTY DISPOSITIONS UP SINCE 1979

The percent of guilty dispositions that are committed to prison as new commitments hit a low of 15% in 1984 after the implementation of sentencing guidelines. Since 1984, the percent of felony convictions resulting in a prison sentence has increased to record levels as high as 29% in December, 1987. New commitments as a percentage of guilty dispositions averaged 26.2% in fiscal year 1987-88 compared with 18.8% in 1983-84.

RATE OF ARRESTEES SENTENCED TO PRISON RISES SINCE 1979

The percent of offenders arrested who are entering prison has increased dramatically since 1979. Arrests for murder increased 10% while prison admission rose 124%. Drug admissions have increased 742% since 1979 while arrests have risen 141%.

PERCENT CHANGE IN ARRESTS AND PRISON ADMISSIONS: 1979-88

PRESENT INCREASE:

INDEX CRIMES IN FLORIDA INCREASED 6.3% DURING CALENDAR YEAR 1987

The Uniform Crime Report provides a general indicator of criminal activity in the state. Crime report data historically has somewhat been related to prison admissions. This may be explained by the fact that the Uniform Crime Report counts crimes, not criminals. In addition, the index crimes reported include a significant number of misdemeanor offenses not resulting in prison admissions.

CORRECTIONAL STATISTICS

Our Computerized data system has permitted inclusion of information for incarcerated inmates and offenders under community supervision for two time periods:

- Offenders admitted to custody or supervision of the Department of Corrections during FY 1987-88.
- Offenders in custody or supervision of the Department as of June 30, 1988.

Data in this section of the Annual Report are organized into two major subsections - incarcerated offenders, and offenders under community supervision. These subsections follow the summary statistics for population under criminal sentence.

In each subsection information comprises supervision data, dispositional data and offender demographics. The data are organized along the following lines:

- First, data descriptive of the prison and community supervision populations are presented. Data are included on the number of offenders, their origin by county, and where housed or supervised.
- Then, dispositional data as to criminal history, primary offense, length of commitment or supervision, and class of felony are included.
- Finally, offender specific data on age, education, intelligence, length of residence, employment, and use of alcohol or narcotics are provided.

In the inmate section a special subsection dealing with the drug offenders is included to highlight the specific problems posed by this group to the Department.

It should be noted that some data are the result of self reporting and may be subject to error. Also a redistribution of the missing data will subject the tables to some rounding problems.

Data from previous reports are available upon specific request from the Bureau of Planning, Research and Statistics, 1311 Winewood Boulevard, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-2500, Telephone: (904) 488-8430, SunCom: 278-8430.

DRUG OFFENDERS

RECENT TRENDS IN PRISON ADMISSIONS

During the 1987-88 fiscal year, inmate admissions for drug offenses rose 61.3% over the previous year. With overall admissions up 33.2% for the same period of time, the growth in drug admissions is nearly double the general admissions growth. This indicates that drug offenses represent an increasingly prominent contributor to the problem of prison overcrowding.

The increase for 1987/88 continues a trend dating back several years. Between fiscal year 1983/84 and fiscal year 1987/88, inmate admissions grew 245%, while drug admissions rose 525%. The tables below indicate the yearly increases in drug admissions, both in simple number and as a percent of total inmate admissions.

If present trends continue, approximately one-third of the inmates admitted during fiscal year 1988-89 will be drug offenders.

INMATE ADMISSIONS FOR DRUG OFFENSES: 1983-88

Fiscal Year	Total	Percent of Previous Year Drug Admissions
1983-84	1620	96.1%
1984-85	2013	124.3%
1985-86	2773	137.8%
1986-87	5273	190.2%
1987-88	8506	161.3%

DRUG OFFENDERS AS A PERCENT OF TOTAL ADMISSIONS 1983-88

The growth in drug admissions is associated primarily with cocaine. While most illegal substances have shown a stable or declining pattern in inmate admissions, cocaine-related incarcerations continue their sharp rise, up 92.6% over the previous fiscal year. The month by month trend in admissions of cocaine offenders is generally upward throughout the 1987-88 fiscal year. This rise continues the pattern that began in 1986/87, when cocaine admissions rose more than five times the number recorded for 1985/86.

COMMUNITY SUPERVISION STATISTICS

The following pages contain statistics concerning probationers and parolees under the supervision of the Department of Corrections. The probation and parole caseload continues to increase. The Department continues its emphasis upon diversionary programs and these programs, hopefully, will reduce the number of institutional beds necessary in the future. Consequently, an even greater probation and parole caseload is anticipated in the years to come.

In the following tables, misdemeanor probation reflects cases originally filed in circuit court as felonies that were reduced to misdemeanors and subsequently placed on probation.
