Problem-Solving Courts Report

BACKGROUND

Section 43.51, Florida Statutes, requires the Office of the State Courts Administrator (OSCA) to provide an annual report on problem-solving courts to the Legislature and sets forth specific requirements for reporting. A similar requirement was included in the FY 2020-21 General Appropriations Act (GAA) within proviso language accompanying the problem-solving court appropriation (Specific Appropriation 3226, Section 7, Ch. 2020-111, Laws of Fla.) but was not included in the FY 2021-22 GAA.

Section 43.51, Florida Statutes

43.51 Problem-solving court reports.

(1) The Office of the State Courts Administrator shall provide an annual report to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives which details the number of participants in each problem-solving court for each fiscal year the court has been operating and the types of services provided, identifies each source of funding for each court during each fiscal year, and provides information on the performance of each court based upon outcome measures established by the courts.

(2) For purposes of this section, the term "problem-solving court" includes, but is not limited to, a drug court pursuant to s. 397.334, s. 948.01, s. 948.06, s. 948.08, s. 948.16, or s. 948.20; a veterans treatment court program pursuant to s. 394.47891, s. 948.08, s. 948.16, or s. 948.21; a mental health court program pursuant to s. 394.47892, s. 948.01, s. 948.06, s. 948.08, or s. 948.16; a community court pursuant to s. 948.081; or a delinquency pretrial intervention court program pursuant to s. 985.345.

Annual Report Requirements

The report prescribed by section 43.51, F.S requires the following:

1. Number of participants in each problem-solving court for each fiscal year the court has been operating;
2. Types of services provided;
3. Each source of funding for each court during each fiscal year; and
4. Information on the performance of each court based upon outcome measures established by the courts.

This report contains a brief narrative on each of the four required elements, followed by six tables that contain data related to each element, as well as four appendices with historical and other problem-solving court information.

OVERVIEW AND DEVELOPMENTS

Problem-solving courts address the root causes of justice system involvement through specialized dockets, multidisciplinary teams, and a non-adversarial approach. Offering evidence-based treatment, judicial supervision, and accountability, problem-solving courts provide individualized interventions for participants, thereby improving public safety, reducing recidivism, restoring lives, and promoting confidence and satisfaction with the justice system.<sup>1</sup>

The first problem-solving court in the United States, an adult drug court, was created in 1989 in Miami-Dade County in response to the crack cocaine epidemic. Since that time, drug courts have expanded geographically with 52 adult drug courts currently operating in Florida. Drug courts have also expanded in scope as juvenile drug courts and dependency drug courts (formerly referred to as family dependency drug courts) arose to address more specific populations. As drug court implementation continued, other types of problem-solving courts evolved, such as mental health courts, DUI courts, veterans courts, and early childhood courts. Currently, more than 180 problem-solving courts are in operation across the state. The booklet in Appendix D of this report contains a map of Florida's more commonly known problem-solving courts, key findings from national research, and the core components of each type of problem-solving court.

OSCA, through its Office of Family Courts and Office of Problem-Solving Courts, supports the training, technical assistance, and general operational needs of the majority of Florida's problem-solving courts (adult drug courts, juvenile drug courts, dependency drug courts, veterans courts, mental health courts, and early childhood courts). OSCA manages a case management platform — the Florida Drug Court Case Management System (FDCCMS) — that supports these problem-solving courts. The FDCCMS streamlines data collection and entry for all problem-solving court case types and allows problem-solving court judges and case managers to manage their caseloads efficiently. The FDCCMS currently supports 101 problem-solving courts with approximately 800 user accounts. Currently, OSCA does not provide statewide support to community courts, which typically address the needs of at-large, homeless, petty crime, and municipal ordinance offenders.

A development that has significantly affected the funding structure of problem-solving courts occurred in 2018 when the Legislature appropriated recurring general revenue funds in one special category for problem-solving courts. As part of this funding approach, the Legislature provided for the Trial Court Budget Commission (TCBC) to allocate the majority of problem-solving court funding. Previously, the Legislature had provided funding for some problem-solving courts in specifically named counties. Under this special category appropriation, problem-solving courts have received funding through a circuit application process. As part of this special category appropriation, the Legislature also provided additional dollars, which has resulted in additional problem-solving courts receiving funding. As part of its allocation strategy, the TCBC is prioritizing funding for problem-solving courts that have best practice standards in place or under development and the statewide technology and infrastructure available to ensure program performance can be measured. Another goal of the TCBC is to provide equity in funding across the circuits.

Not all problem-solving courts, however, receive state funding. Approximately 85 of Florida's 182 problem-solving courts are receiving state funding in FY 2021-22. This fact is reflective of the history of development of problem-solving courts — starting principally as initiatives in local jurisdictions and often receiving county funding. In addition, problem-solving courts rely on federal grant funding and other state funding through the Department of Children and Families and other state agencies primarily for substance abuse and mental health treatment. As noted in Section III and the accompanying table and appendix (Table 5 and Appendix C), an individual problem-solving court may be funded from a single source or may employ funding from a mix of sources.

Complementary problem-solving court activities that are under way by the State Courts System include the development of best practice standards and guidelines for problem-solving courts, a certification program, and enhanced performance measurement capability. The Supreme Court has approved adult drug court and early childhood court best practice standards which are currently in the process of being updated by the Steering Committee on Problem-Solving Courts (Steering Committee). Dependency drug court, veterans court, and mental health court best practice standards or guidelines have been developed and are under final revision by the Steering Committee. The Steering Committee has developed and is refining recommendations for a problem-solving court certification program, which are subject to final approval by the Supreme Court, and has started developing standards or guidelines for juvenile drug courts and DUI courts.

Under the TCBC's funding plan, problem-solving courts receiving funding from the state appropriation will be required to report client-level data through the FDCCMS or the Florida Dependency Court Information System (FDCIS) unless use of a different, compatible system is approved. Data reporting requirements for drug courts, early childhood courts, mental health courts, and veterans courts were approved by the Problem-Solving Court Advisory Group and the Steering Committee in June 2019. OSCA staff is in the final stages of implementing enhancements needed to FDCCMS and FDCIS to capture all required data. The process for final approval of the data reporting will be developed once all enhancements have been implemented.

This report contains a combination of data OSCA has been collecting for more than 11 years, as well as information provided directly from the field, specifically in response to the requirements of this annual report. There are certain areas of the report for which data is not complete because data collection and compilation in the early years was conducted differently and reporting capabilities were less robust. For instance, some programs began operating in the late 1980s and early 1990s and do not have all of the requested information. Other areas of the report contain information that is limited by prior data collection methodologies and can be remedied for future reporting cycles, such as tracking participants by fiscal year instead of calendar year. Admissions data for calendar year 2020 was provided by the problem-solving courts and has been added to this year's annual report in addition to participant data for FY 2020-21.

Performance measures are also limited due to a lack of capacity at the statewide level to track outcome measures. The report offers a variety of performance measures and outcome data that have been reported by the problem-solving courts from local data systems, FDCCMS, and/or independent evaluations conducted on individual programs. Some jurisdictions were able to report new performance measures and outcome data for this year's report while others did not have any new information to report.

This report offers an abundance of data and information related to how these important programs operate and the vulnerable populations they aim to serve.

I. NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS BY FISCAL YEAR FOR EACH YEAR THE PROBLEM-SOLVING COURT HAS BEEN OPERATING

OSCA has historically tracked the number of problem-solving court admissions by calendar year for adult drug courts, dependency drug courts, juvenile drug courts, and DUI courts. OSCA began collecting admissions data for veterans courts in 2015, mental health courts in 2016, and more recently for the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit’s Marchman Act drug court and the Eleventh Judicial Circuit’s domestic violence drug court in 2018, respectively. Table 1 includes the most recent admissions data for calendar year 2020, and Appendix A contains historical admissions data for calendar years 2008 through 2019, where available. The information also includes the implementation date for each problem-solving court and a column labeled “Closure Date” that addresses if a particular problem-solving court subsequently has been closed or discontinued and on what date, if the date is known.

In 2020, OSCA staff began tracking the number of participants served by fiscal year beginning with FY 2019-20 to include in this report. Table 2 includes updated data for FY 2020-21 for adult drug courts, dependency drug courts, juvenile drug courts, DUI courts, mental health courts, and veterans courts. FY 2019-20 data included in last year’s report and historical data reported by some of the problem-solving courts prior to that timeframe are provided in Appendix B.

Regarding early childhood courts, OSCA is able to provide the number of participants served by fiscal year for each year that each early childhood court has been operating. OSCA has an independent early childhood court tracking system and has been collecting data for these programs since implementation began in 2013. Because of this tracking system, OSCA has the capability of generating the number of early childhood court participants by fiscal year. Table 3 contains data on early childhood court participants by fiscal year through FY 2020-21.

OSCA does not have participant information for community courts. Also of note for the tables for Section I, the Third Judicial Circuit does not have any problem-solving courts in operation.

II. TYPES OF SERVICES PROVIDED

Table 4 displays the types of services commonly utilized by adult drug courts, dependency drug courts, juvenile drug courts, mental health courts, veterans courts, and early childhood courts. This listing is not exhaustive as problem-solving court services for participants are community-based and tailored to the individual participant. Therefore, an individual problem-solving court may not provide all of the listed services or may provide additional services based on the needs of participants.

III. EACH SOURCE OF FUNDING FOR EACH COURT DURING EACH FISCAL YEAR

As noted in the Overview and Developments section, many problem-solving courts operate by utilizing funding from a variety of sources. Table 5 provides funding information for FY 2020-21 for adult drug courts, dependency drug courts, juvenile drug courts, domestic violence drug court, mental health courts, DUI courts, veterans courts, and early childhood courts. Appendix C provides historical funding information through FY 2011-12. Funding information prior to FY 2011-2012 is available upon request. Funding sources for FY 2021-22 will be provided in next year's report when complete funding information is available.

This funding information reflects direct funding provided to problem-solving courts. The information was provided by the local problem-solving courts and compiled and edited by OSCA staff. Funding purpose information for FY 2010-11 through FY 2015-16 is available upon request. Please note that OSCA does not have funding information for community courts. Also of note, the Third Judicial Circuit does not have any problem-solving courts in operation. Finally, for fiscal years 2016 and 2017, OSCA did not collect funding information from the programs in order to focus on other problem-solving court data. OSCA resumed collection of this information in 2018 in response to legislative requests.

IV. INFORMATION ON THE PERFORMANCE OF EACH COURT BASED UPON OUTCOME MEASURES ESTABLISHED BY THE COURTS

In response to outreach to the circuits for this report, OSCA received and compiled problem-solving court outcome data from approximately 143 programs in 18 circuits. The most common outcome data provided are graduation/successful completion and recidivism rates. The date ranges of data reported to OSCA varied and are noted throughout Table 6, which addresses this section of the report.

Second Judicial Circuit

Leon County

Veterans Court:

Recidivism rate: From beginning of program through 3/31/21:

(1) 82 successful graduates that can be evaluated for one year recidivism data (3 additional Veterans graduated but they are deceased and are not counted in this data.); of the 82 graduates 7 had an arrest within one year of graduating (9% - 1 F/2MM/4CT) so we have 91% that did not recidivate at the one year mark.

(2) Of the 82 successful graduates, 63 (did not include deceased Veterans) can also be evaluated for two-year recidivism data; 8 had an arrest within two years of graduating (13% - 2F/2MM/4CT) so we have 87% that did not recidivate at the two year mark. Of the 8 that had a new arrest during the two years since their graduation: all were male; 6 Caucasian, 1 Hispanic, 1 African American; 7 were Pretrial clients/1 was DOC client.

(3) Of the 82 successful graduates, 39 (did not include deceased Veterans) can also be evaluated for three-year recidivism data; 7 had an arrest within 3 years of graduating (18% - 3F/1 MM/3 CT) so we have 82% that did not recidivate at the three year mark. all were male; 6 Caucasian, 1 Hispanic; 7 were Pretrial clients.

(4) Of the 82 successful graduates, 21 (did not include deceased Veterans) can also be evaluated for four-year recidivism data; 4 had an arrest within 4 years of graduating (19% - 3F/1 CT) so we have 81% that did not recidivate at the four year mark. all were male; 3 Caucasian, 1 Hispanic; all were Pretrial clients.

The Juvenile Drug Court had an independent evaluation completed in 2016 as a requirement of a SAMHSA grant the JDC held from 2013-2016. The final evaluation included a recidivism study of the JDC. A baseline cohort was developed from the JDC participants exiting the JDC in 2009 and 2010 (a total of 60 juveniles) to be reviewed against grant Year 3 cohort participants who entered the JDC after October 1, 2013 and exited before May 31, 2016 (a total of 59 juveniles). The conclusions were as follows:

- When looking at JDC participants recidivism outcomes, the rate of arrest at Year 3 dropped nearly in half from the rate at Baseline (from 32% of participants to 15% of participants). The rate of conviction declined as well, though not as substantially (from 10% to 8%).
- Post-participant arrests decreased from 50% of participants at Baseline to 27% of participants at Year 3, while post-participant convictions decreased from 33% to 8%

FLORIDA'S PROBLEM-SOLVING COURTS

Problem-solving courts address the root causes of justice system involvement through specialized dockets, multidisciplinary teams, and a nonadversarial approach. Offering evidence-based treatment, judicial supervision, and accountability, problem-solving courts provide individualized interventions for participants, thereby improving public safety, reducing recidivism, restoring lives, and promoting confidence and satisfaction with the justice system process.

Problem-Solving Courts

KEY FINDINGS FROM NATIONAL RESEARCH

Adult Drug Courts

- Drug courts have been shown to reduce both drug use and other forms of criminal behaviors in adult participants who complete the program (Mitchell et al., 2012). Well-conducted drug courts have been shown to reduce recidivism by 35-80% (Carey et al., 2012; Lowenkamp et al., 2005; Shaffer, 2006). Methodologically rigorous studies have shown that the effects of drug courts on recidivism can last three years or more (Gottfredson et al., 2005, 2006; Mitchell et al., 2012; Turner et al., 1999).
- Participants who received more services reported fewer crimes and less drug use (Multi-Site Adult Drug Court Evaluation Vol. 4; Rossman et al., 2011).
- Adult drug courts resulted in an average return on investment of $2-$4 on every $1 spent (Bhati et al., 2008; Downey & Roman, 2010; Drake, 2012; Drake et al., 2009; Lee et al. 2012; Mayfield et al., 2013; Rossman et al., 2011). This represents an approximate $3,000-$22,000 savings to the community per participant.

Juvenile Drug Courts

- Juvenile drug courts have been shown to modestly reduce recidivism (non-drug related offenses) by approximately 8% among participants who complete the program (Mitchell et al., 2012). A national evaluation found that many (up to 77%) were not implementing the programmatic model faithfully (Latessa, et al., 2013), likely impacting court effectiveness.

Dependency Drug Courts

- Dependency drug courts increase the rate of successful completion of drug treatment, reduce out-of-home placements for children, and increase rates of family reunification. Parents in these courts were 25-35% more likely to successfully complete drug treatment. Children spent 3-6 months fewer in out-of-home placement than non-drug court participants. 15-40% of participating families were eventually reunified (Green et al., 2009; Lloyd, 2015).
- Preliminary evidence exists to suggest that dependency drug courts reduce future criminal arrests among participants (Carey et al., 2010).
- Cost savings associated with these courts have been estimated to be between $5,000 and $15,000 per family, due primarily to a reduction in out-of-home placement (Zeller et al., 2007; Roche, 2005; Carey et al., 2010; Burrus et al. 2011).

Mental Health Courts

- Significant reductions in recidivism have been found for participants with serious mental illness (Cross, 2011; Sarteschi et al., 2011; Lee et al., 2012).
- Participants have also been shown to have lower rearrest rates and less time spent in custody (Steadman et al. 2011).
- For every $1.00 invested in mental health courts, there is a cost savings of $6.96 (Lee et al., 2012). Other studies have reached conclusions that contradict the above findings of cost savings, suggesting it takes several years to recoup the increased costs of mental health courts' operation, with some never reaching a point of cost savings (Lindberg, 2009; Ridgely et al., 2007; Steadman et al., 2014).

Veterans Courts

- While little evaluation research exists for this type of problem-solving court, some studies show promising results for veterans courts including improvements in psychiatric health and reductions in substance abuse (Knudsen & Wingenfeld, 2016), as well as reductions in rates of rearrest (Commaroto et al., 2011).

Early Childhood Courts (Safe Babies Court Teams Project)

- Florida's early childhood court is modeled after the national Safe Babies Court Teams Project, which has a scientific rating of "3" (promising research evidence) and a "high" child welfare system relevance level on the California Evidence-Based Clearinghouse for Child Welfare. It shows potential for: promoting greater collaboration among the courts, the child welfare system, and community providers to meet the needs of very young children; realizing positive safety, permanency, and well-being outcomes, and preserving family connections; and, applying the science of early childhood development to the court process.
- 97% of the identified service needs were met. The children achieved timely permanency. There was increased parent-child contact. More than two-thirds remained in 1 or 2 placements. 99.05% of these children were protected from further maltreatment (James Bell and Associates; Hafford, McDonnell, Kass, DeSantis, & Dong, 2009).
- The Safe Babies Court Teams Project data show that the project yielded a range of $8,500 to $18,000 of in-kind costs per child (one grant dollar generated another dollar of in-kind support).
- Children exit foster care significantly faster than the comparison group. Savings generated from their earlier exits are estimated at an average of $7,300 per child. Children are more likely to remain with biological family members (Foster, E.M., McCombs-Thornton, K.L., 2012, Investing in Our Most Vulnerable: A Cost Analysis of the ZERO TO THREE Safe Babies Court Teams Initiative. Birmingham, AL: Economics for the Public Good, LLC.)
